THIS GARLAND has been long out of Repair,
Some SONGS being wanting, of which we give Account ;

For now at last, by true industrious Care,
The Sixteen SONGS to Twenty-seven we mount ;
Which large Addition needs must please, I know,

All the Ingenious YEOMAN of the Bow,
To read how ROBIN HOOD and LITTLE JOHN,
Brave SCARLET, STUTELY, valiant, bold,
and free,

Each of them bravely, fairly play'd the Man,
While they did reign beneath the Green-
Wood Tree ;

Bishops, Friars, likewise many more,
Parted with their Gold, for to increase their Store;

But never would they rob or wrong the Poor.

*T*H E R E is scarce any Story so little known, for one so very popular, as that of ROBIN HOOD and LITTLE JOHN. Numbers there are who look upon all that is said of them as fabulous, and believe them (like the Heroes and Gods of Homer and Ovid) to have existed no where but in the fertile Brain of an inventing Poet. Nor is this the Opinion of an unthinking People : I have often heard it asserted by Men of good Sense ; but that they are grossly mistaken is very certain : For King Richard the First, transported with Zeal, blindly sacrificed every Thing to it, and ruined himself and almost his whole Nation, to carry on a War against the Infidels in the Holy Land, where he went in person. The intestine Troubles of England were very great at that Time ; and even John, the King's Brother, cabballed to dethrone him, and take Possession of his Kingdom. This was an opportunity which the Outlaws and Banditti would by no means neglect, and England was every where infested with Thieves and Robbers. But amongst those, none made so considerable a Figure as Robin Hood ; who, as Historians assure us, chiefly resided in Yorkshire ; but where, if we may give any Credit to most of our Old Songs, was very conversant in the County of Nottingham. Besides Little John, he had an Hundred Bowmen in his Retinue, but none but the Rich stood in awe of him : So far from spoiling the Poor, he did them all the Good that lay in his Power. Of the Rich, he seldom abused those he robbed ; and never offered to stop or rifle any Woman. It is not very positively known who he was ; but the general Opinion of the Historians is, that he was a Nobleman; by Birth noble, and created an Earl for some considerable Service done to his Country in War. But having riotously spent his Estate, he took that Way of Living, rather chusing to venture his Life or every Thing he got than to live in a dependent State, and be beholden to any Body for his Bread. Hubert, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Chief Justiciary of England, endeavouring all he could to suppress those Robbers and Outlaws, set a very considerable Price upon the Head of Robin Hood, and several Stratagems were used to apprehend him; but all their Attempts proved fruitless. Force he repelled by Force, and Art by Cunning; till at length falling ill, he went (in order to be the better taken care of) to Birkleys, a Nunnery in Yorkshire, where he desired to be let Blood; but the Reward set upon his Head, being very considerable, it proved a great Temptation to some who knew him, by whom he was betrayed; and instead of bleeding as he desired, he was blooded to Death, about the latter End of 1395.-- As to the following Song, with which we shall begin this Collection, I think I need not say any Thing in Commendation of it, being the most beautiful, and one of the oldest extant on that Subject. One Thing we must observe in reading it, and that is, between some of the Stanza's we must suppose a considerable Time to pass. Clorinda might be a very forward Girl, if between Robin Hood's Question and her Answer we did not suppose two or three Hours to have been spent in Courtship. And between Robin Hood's being entertained at Gamewell Hall, and his having Ninety-three Bowmen in Sherwood, we must allow some Years. I know not how our Criticks will relish this; but I would have them remember, that the Poets of Old scorned to curb the Poetick Fire to give Way to dull Rule. They had no tedious Comment upon Aristotle to consult; no Bossu's nor Dennis's to guide them; or, at least, they had too much Spirit to be guided by them. Their Works were the first Flight of a lively Imagination; and Poets were looked upon, like other Englishmen, born to live and write with Freedom.

ROBIN

ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND, &c.

I. The Pedigree, Education, and Marriage of ROBIN HOOD with CLORINDA, Queen of Titbury Feast.

Supposed to be related by the FIDLER who played at their WEDDING.

KIND gentlemen will you be silent awhile?

Aye, and then you shall hear anon,
A very good ballad of bold Robin Hood,
And of his brave man Little John.

In Locksley town, in merry Nottinghamshire,

In merry sweet Locksley town,

There bold Robin Hood was born and bred,

Bold Robin of famous renown.

The father of Robin a forester was,

And he shot with a lusty strong bow.

Two north country miles and an inch at a shoot,

As the Pinder of Wakefield does know;

For he brought Adam Bell, and Clim of the Clough,

And William of Clowdel Lee,

To shoot with a forester for forty marks,

And the forester beat them all three.

His mother was neice to the Coventry knight,

Which Warwickshire men call Sir Guy,

6 ROBINHOOD's GARLAND.

For he slew the blue boar that hangs up at the gate
 Or my host at the Bull tells a lie.
 Her brother was Gamewell, of Great Gamewell-Hall,
 A noble housekeeper was he,
 Aye, as ever broke bread in sweet Nottinghamshire,
 And a 'squire of famous degree.
 The mother of Robin said to her husband,
 My Honey, my Love, and my Dear,
 Let Robin and I ride this morning to Gamewell,
 To taste of my brother's good cheer.
 And he said, I grant thee thy boon, gentle John
 Take one of my horses, I pray :
 The sun is arising, and therefore make haste,
 For to-morrow is Christmas-Day.
 Then Robin Hood's father's grey gelding was brought,
 And saddled and bridled was he ;
 God wot a blue bonnet, his new suit of cloaths,
 And a cloak that did reach to his knee.
 She got on her holiday kirtle and gown,
 They were all of a Lincoln green ;
 The cloth was home-spun, but for colour and make
 It might have beseemed our Queen.
 And then Robin got on his basket-hilt sword,
 And his dagger on the other side ;
 And said, My dear Mother, let's haste to be gone,
 We have forty long miles for to ride.
 When Robin was mounted on his gelding so grey,
 His father, without any trouble,
 Set her up behind him, bid her not fear,
 For his gelding had oft carried double.
 And when she was settled, they rode to their neighbours,
 And drank and shook hands with them all ;
 And then Robin gallop'd, and never gave o'er,
 'Till they 'lighted at Gamewell-Hall.
 And now you may think the right worshipful 'squire
 Was joyful his sister to see ;
 For he kiss'd her, and kiss'd her, and swore a great oath,
 Thou art welcome kind sister to me.
 The morrow, when mass had been said at the chapel,
 Six tables were covered in the hall,
 And in comes the 'squire, and makes a short speech,
 It was, Gentlemen, you'r welcome all.
 But not a man here shall taste my March beer,
 Till a Christmas Carol he does sing.
 Then all clapp'd their hands, and they shouted and sung,
 Till the hall and the parlour did ring.

Now

Now mustard and brawn, roast beef and plumb pies,
 Were set upon every table;
 And noble George Gamewell said, Eat and be merry,
 And drink too as long as you're able.
 When dinner was ended his chaplain said grace;
 And be merry my friends, said the 'squire;
 It rains and it blows; but call for more ale,
 And lay some more wood on the fire.
 And now call ye Little John hither to me,
 For Little John is a fine lad,
 At gambols and juggling, and twenty such tricks,
 As shall make you both merry and glad.
 When Little John came to gambols they went,
 Both gentlemen, yoemen, and clowns:
 And what do you think? Why, as true as I live,
 Bold Robin put them all down.
 And now you may think the right worshipful 'squire
 Was joyful this fight for to see;
 For, he said, Cousin Robin, thou go'st no more home
 But tarry and dwell here with me:
 Thou shalt have my land when I die, and till then,
 Thou shalt be the staff of my age.
 Then grant me my boon, dear uncle, said Robin,
 That Little John may be my page.
 And he said, kind cousin, I grant thee thy boon;
 With all my heart, so let it be,
 Then come hither Little John, said Robin Hood,
 Come hither my page unto me:
 Go fetch me my bow, my longest bow,
 And broad arrows one, two, or three;
 For when 'tis fair weather we'll into Sherwood,
 Some merry pastime to see.
 When Robin Hood came into merry Sherwood,
 He winded his bugle so clear;
 And twice five and twenty good yoemen and bold,
 Before Robin Hood did appear.
 Where are your companions all? said Robin Hood
 For still I want forty and three;
 Then said a bold yoeman, Lo, yonder they stand
 All under the green wood tree.
 As that word was spoke Clorinda came by,
 The queen of the shepherds was she;
 And her gown was of velvet as green as the gra
 And her buskin did reach to her knee:
 Her gait it was graceful, her body was strait
 And her countenance it was free from pride

8 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

A bow in her hand, and a quiver of arrows
 Hung dangling down by her sweet side.
 Her eye-brows were black, aye, and so was her hair,
 And her skin was as smooth as glass;
 Her visage spoke wisdom and modesty too;
 Sets with Robin Hood such a lass!
 Says Robin Hood, Fair lady whither away?
 O whither, fair lady, away?
 And she made him answer, to kill a fat buck;
 For to-morrow is Titbury Day.
 Said Robin Hood, Lady fair, will you wander with me
 A little to yonder green bower;
 There set down to rest you, and you shall be sure
 Of a brace or a leash in an hour.
 And as we were going towards the green bower,
 Two hundred good bucks we espy'd;
 She chose out the fattest that was in the herd,
 And she shot him through side and side.
 By the faith of my body, said bold Robin Hood,
 I never saw woman like thee;
 And com'st thou from east, or com'st thou from west,
 Thou need'st not beg ven'son of me.
 However, along to my bower you shall go,
 And taste of a forester's meat:
 And when we come thither we found as good cheer
 As any man need for to eat.
 For there was hot venison, and warden pies cold,
 Cream clouted, and honey-combs plenty;
 And the servitures they were, besides Little John,
 Good yoemen at least four and twenty.
 Clorinda said, Tell me your name, gentle Sir;
 And he said, 'Tis bold Robin Hood:
 'Squire Gamewell's my uncle, but all my delight
 Is to dwell in merry Sherwood;
 For 'tis a fine life, and 'tis void of all strife.
 So 'tis, Sir, Clorinda reply'd;
 But oh! said bold Robin, how sweet would it be,
 If Clorinda would be my bride?
 She blush'd at the motion; yet, after a pause,
 Said, Yes, Sir, and withal my heart:
 Then let us send for a priest, said Robin Hood,
 And be married before we do part.
 But she said, It may not be so, gentle Sir,
 For I must be at Titbury feast;
 And if Robin Hood will go thither with me,
 I'll make him the most welcome guest.

Said

ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND. 99

Said Robin Hood, reach me that buck, Little John,
 For I'll go along with my dear;
 And bid my yoemen kill fix brace of bucks,
 And meet me to-morrow just here.
 Before he had ridden five Staffordshire miles,
 Eight yoemen that were too bold,
 Bid Robin Hood stand, and deliver his buck,
 A truer tale never was told.
 I will not faith, said bold Robin: Come, John,
 Stand by me, and we'll beat them all.
 Then both drew their swords, and so cut 'em and slash'd 'em,
 That five out of the eight did fall.
 The three that remained call'd to Robin for quarter,
 And pitiful John begg'd their lives.
 When John's boon was granted, he gave them good counsel,
 And sent them all home to their wives.
 This battle was fought near to Titbury town,
 When the bagpipes baited the bull;
 I'm the king of the fiddlers, and I swear 'tis truth,
 And I call him that doubts it a gull;
 For I saw them fighting, and fiddled the while;
 And Clorinda sung "Hey derry down!"
 "The bumkins are beaten, put up they sword, Bob,
 "And now let's dance into the town."
 Before we came in we heard a great shouting,
 And all that were in it look'd madly!
 For some were on bull-back, some dancing a morrice,
 And some singing Arthur-a-Bradley.
 And there we saw Thomas, our Justice's clerk,
 And Mary to whom he was kind;
 For Tom rode before her, and call'd Mary, Madam,
 And kiss'd her full sweetly behind;
 And so may your worships. But we went to dinner.
 With Thomas and Mary, and Nan;
 They all drank a health to Clorinda, and told her,
 Bold Robin Hood was a fine man.
 When dinner was ended, Sir Roger the parson
 Of Dunbridge was sent for in haste:
 He brought his mass book, and bid them take hands,
 And join'd them in marriage full fast.
 And then as bold Robin Hood and his sweet bride,
 Went hand and hand unto the green bower,
 The birds sung with pleasure in merry Sherwood,
 And it was a most joyful hour.
 And when Robin came in sight of the bower,
 Where are my yoemen? said he:

And

10 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

And Little John answer'd, Lo, yonder they stand,
 All under the green wood tree.
 Then a garland they brought her by two and by two,
 And plac'd it all on the bride's head :
 The music struck up, and we all fell a dancing,
 'Till the bride the bridegroom were a-bed,
 And what they did there must be counsel to me,
 Because they lay long the next day ;
 And I made haste home ; but I got a good piece
 Of bride cake, and so came away.
 Now out, alas ! I had forgotten to tell ye,
 That married they were with a ring ;
 And so will Nan Knight, or be buried a maiden ;
 And now let us pray for the king.
 That he may get children, and they may get more,
 To govern and do us some good ;
 Then I'll make ballads in Robin Hood's bower,
 And sing them in merry Sherwood.

2. ROBIN HOOD'S Progress to NOTTINGHAM, in which he slew FIFTEEN FORRESTERS.

To the Tune of bold ROBIN HOOD, &c.

ROBIN HOOD was a tall young man,
 Derry, derry down,
 And Robin Hood was a proper young man,
 Of courage stout and bold.
 Hey down, derry, derry down.
 Robin Hood went unto fair Nottingham,
 With the General for to dine ;
 There was he aware of fifteen forresters,
 Drinking beer, ale, and wine.

What

ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND. 11

What news ? What news ? said bold Robin Hood,
 What news fain would'st thou know ?
 Our king has provided a shooting match,
 And I'm ready with my bow.
 We hold it in scorn, said the fifteen foresters,
 That ever a boy so young
 Should bear a bow before our king,
 That's not able to draw one string.
 I'll hold you twenty marks, said bold Robin Hood,
 By the leave of our Lady,
 That I'll hit the mark an hundred rod,
 And I'll cause a hart to die.
 We'll hold you twenty marks then, said the foresters,
 By the leave of our Lady,
 Thou hit not the mark an hundred rod,
 Nor cause the hart to die.
 Robin Hood he bent up a noble good bow,
 And a broad arrow he let fly :
 He hit the mark a hundred rod,
 And caused an hart to die.
 Some say he broke ribs one or two,
 And some say he broke three ;
 The arrow in the hart would not abide,
 But glanc'd in two or three.
 The hart did skip, and the heart did leap,
 And the hart lay on the ground ;
 The wager is mine, said Robin Hood,
 If it were for a thousand pounds.
 The wager is none of thine, said the foresters,
 Altho' thou be'st in haste,
 Take up thy bow, and get thee hence,
 Lest we thy sides should baste.
 Robin Hood took up his noble good bow,
 And his broad arrow all amain :
 And Robin being pleas'd, began for to smile
 As he went over the plain.
 Then Robin he bent his noble good bow,
 And his broad arrows he let fly,
 Till fourteen of the fifteen foresters
 Upon the ground did lie.
 He that did the quarrel first begin,
 Went tripping over the plain ;
 But Robin Hood bent his noble good bow,
 And fetch'd him back again.
 You said I was no archer, said Robin Hood,
 But say so now again ;

With

With that he sent another arrow after him,
 Which split his head in twain.
 You have found me an archer, says bold Robin Hood,
 Which will make your wives to wring,
 And wish you had never said the word,
 That I could not have drawn one string.
 The people that did live in fair Nottingham,
 Came running out amain,
 Supposing to have taken bold Robin Hood,
 With the forresters that were slain.
 Some lost legs and some lost arms,
 And some did lose their blood:
 But Robin he took up his noble good bow,
 And is gone to the merry Green Wood.
 They carried their forresters to fair Nottingham,
 As many there did know,
 They digg'd them graves in their church-yard,
 And they bury'd them all on a row.

3. ROBIN HOOD and the JOLLY PINDER of WAKEFIELD.

Shewing how he fought with ROBIN HOOD, WILL SCARLET and LITTLE JOHN, a long Summer's Day.
 To an excellent Northern Tune.

IN Wakefield there lives a jolly Pinder,
 In Wakefield all on the green,
 In Wakefield all on the green:
 There is neither knight nor 'squire, said the Pinder,
 Nor Baron so bold,
 Nor Baron so bold,
 Dare make a trespass to the town of Wakefield,
 But his pledge goes to the pinfold,
 But his pledge goes to the pinfold.

All this he heard three witty young men,

'Twas Robin Hood, Scarlet, and John;

With that they espy'd the jolly Pinder

As he sat under a Thorn.

Now turn again, now turn again, said the Pinder

For a wrong way you have gone;

For you have forsaken the king's highway;

And made a path over the corn.

O that were a shame, said jolly Robin,

We being three, and thou but one.

The Pinder leap'd back then thirty good foot,

'Twas thirty good foot and one,

He lean'd his back fast to a thorn,

And his foot against a stone.

And there he fought a long summer's day,

And a summer's day so long,

'Till that their swords in their broad bucklers

Were broken fast in their hands.

Hold thy hand, hold thy hand, said bold Robin Hood,

And my merry men every one;

For this is one of the best Pinders,

That ever I try'd with a sword.

And wilt thou now forsake thy pinder's craft,

And live in the Green Wood with me?

At Michaelmas next my covenant comes out,

When every man gathers his fee,

Then I'll take my blue blade in my hand,

And plod to the Green Wood with thee.

Ha't either meat or drink, said Robin Hood,

For my merry men and me?

I have both bread and beef, said the Pinder;

And good ale of the best;

And that's good meat enough, said Robin Hood,

For such unbidden guests.

O wilt thou forsake thy Pinder's craft,

And go to the Green Wood with me?

Thou shalt have a livery twice in the year.

The one green and the other brown.

If Michaelmas oncè was come and gone,

And my master had paid me my fee,

Then would I set as little by him,

As my master doth by me.

5. ROBIN HOOD and the BISHOP.

Shewing how ROBIN HOOD went to an old Woman's House
and changed Cloaths with her to escape from the BISHOP;
and how he robbed him of all his Gold, and made him
sing Mass.

Tune of ROBIN HOOD and the STRANGER.

COME Gentlemen all, and listen awhile.
With a hey down, down, and a down,
And a story to you I'll unfold;
I'll tell you how Robin Hood served the Bishop,
When he robbed him of his gold.
As it fell out on a sun-shining day,
When Phoebus was in his prime,
Bold Robin Hood, that archer good,
In mirth would spend some time.
And as he walked the forest along,
Some pastime for to spy,
There was he aware of a proud Bishop,
And of all his company.
O what shall I do said, Robin Hood then,
If the Bishop he doth take me?
No mercy he'll show unto me I know,
Therefore away I'll flee.
Then Robin was stout, and turn'd him about,
And a little house there he did spy;
And to an old wife, to spare his life,
He aloud began to cry.
Why, who art thou, said the old woman.
Come tell to me for good?
I am an Outlaw, as many do know,
My name it is Robin Hood.

And

ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND. 15

And yonder's the Bishop and all his men :
 And if that I taken be,
 Then day and night he'll work my spite,
 And hanged I shall be.
 If thou be Robin Hood, said the old woman,
 As thou dost seem to be,
 I'll for thee provide, thy person hide
 From the Bishop and his company.
 For I remember one Saturday night,
 Thou brought'st me both shoes and hose ;
 Therefore I'll provide thy person to hide,
 And keep thee from thy foes.
 Then give me soon thy coat of grey,
 And take thou my mantle of green :
 Thy spindle of twine unto me resign,
 And take thou my arrows so keen.
 And when Robin Hood was thus array'd,
 He went strait to his company.
 With his spindle and twine he oft looks behind
 For the Bishop and his company.
 O who is yonder, quoth Little John,
 That now comes over the lee ?
 An arrow at her I will let fly,
 So like an old witch looks she.
 Hold thy hand, hold thy hand, said Robin Hood, then,
 And shoot not thy arrows so keen :
 I am Robin Hood thy master good,
 As quickly shall be seen.
 The Bishop he came to the old woman's house,
 And called with a furious mood,
 Come let me see, and bring unto me
 That traitor Robin Hood.
 The old woman she set on a milk white steed,
 Himself on a dapple grey ;
 And for joy he had got Robin Hood,
 He went laughing all the way.
 But as they were riding the forrest along,
 The Bishop he chanc'd for to see
 A hundred brave bowmen, stout and bold,
 Stand under the green-wood tree.
 O who is yonder, the Bishop then said,
 That's ranging within yonder wood !
 Marry, says the old woman, I think it be
 A man called Robin Hood.
 Why, who art thou, the Bishop he said,
 Which I have here with me ?

Why

16 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

Why, I am a woman, thou cuckoldly Bishop,
 Lift up my leg and see.
 Then woe is me, the Bishop he said,
 That ever I saw this day :
 He turn'd him about, but Robin stout,
 Call'd to him, and bid him to stay.
 Then Robin took hold of the bishop's horse,
 And tied him fast to a tree ;
 Then Little John smil'd his master upon,
 For joy of his company.
 Robin Hood took his mantle from his back,
 And spread it upon the ground,
 And out of the bishop's portmantua he
 Soon told five hundred pound.
 Now let him go, said Robin Hood ;
 Said Little John that must not be,
 For I vow and protest he shall sing us a mass,
 Before that he goes from me.
 Then Robin Hood took the bishop by the hand,
 And bound him fast to a tree,
 And made him sing a mass, God wot,
 To him and his yoemandree.
 And then they brought him through the wood,
 And set him on his dapple grey,
 And gave him the tail within his hand,
 And bid him for Robin Hood pray.

5. ROBIN HOOD and the BUTCHER.

Shewing how he robbed the SHERIF of NOTTINGHAM
 Tune of ROBIN HOOD and the BEGGAR.

COME all you brave gallants, and listen awhile,
 With a hey down, down, and a down,
 That are this bower within ;
 For of bold Robin Hood, that archer good,
 A song I intend to sing.

Upon

Upon a time it chanced so,
 Bold Robin in the forest did 'spy
 A jolly butcher with a fine mare,
 With his flesh to the market did hie.
 Good morrow, good fellow, said jolly Robin,
 What food hast thou, tell unto me?
 Thy trade to me tell, and where thou dost dwell,
 For I like well thy company.
 The butcher he answer'd jolly Robin,
 No matter where I dwell;
 For a butcher I am, and to Nottingham
 I am going my flesh to sell.
 What's the price of thy flesh, said jolly Robin,
 Come tell it unto me;
 And the price of thy mare, be she ever so dear,
 For a butcher I fain would be.
 The price of my flesh, the butcher reply'd,
 I soon will tell unto thee;
 With my bonny mare, they are not too dear,
 Four marks thou must give unto me.
 Four marks I will give thee, said jolly Robin,
 Four marks it shall be thy fee;
 The money come count, and let me mount,
 For a butcher I fain would be.
 Now Robin he is to Nottingham gone,
 His butcher's trade to begin;
 With a good intent to the sheriff he went
 And there he took up his inn.
 When the other butchers did open their shops,
 Bold Robin he then begun;
 But how for to sell he knew not well,
 For a butcher he was but young.
 When the other butchers no meat could sell,
 Robin he got both gold and fee;
 For he sold more meat for one penny,
 Then others could do for three.
 But when he sold his meat so fast,
 No butcher by him could thrive;
 For he sold more meat for one penny,
 Then others could do for five.
 Which made the butchers of Nottingham
 To study as they did stand,
 Saying, surely he is some prodigal,
 That has sold his father's land.
 The butchers stepp'd up to jolly Robin,
 Acquainted with him to be;

18 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

Come, Brother, one said, we be all of one trade,
 Come will you go dine with me?
 Accurs'd be his heart, said jolly Robin,
 That a butcher will deny.
 I will go with you, my brethren true,
 As fast as I can hie.
 But when they to the sheriff's house came,
 To dinner they hied apace,
 And Robin Hood he the man must be
 Before them all to say grace.
 Pray God bless us all, said jolly Robin,
 And our meat within this place;
 A cup of sack so good will nourish our blood,
 And so I end my grace.
 Come fill us more wine, said jolly Robin,
 Let's be merry while we stay,
 For wine and good cheer, be it ever so dear,
 I vow I the reck'ning will pay.
 Come, Brothers, be merry, said jolly Robin,
 Let's drink, and ne'er give o'er;
 For the shot I will pay, ere I go away,
 If it costs me five pounds, or more.
 This is a mad blade, the butchers then said,
 Says the sheriff, He's some prodigal,
 That some land has sold for silver and gold,
 And now he doth mean to spend all.
 Hast thou any horn'd beasts, said the sheriff,
 Good fellow, to sell to me?
 Yes, that I have, good master sheriff,
 I have hundreds two or three,
 And a hundred acres of good free land,
 If you please it for to see:
 And I'll make you as good assurance of it,
 As ever my father did me.
 The sheriff he saddled his good palfrey,
 And took three hundred pounds in gold,
 And away he went with Robin Hood,
 His horned beasts to behold.
 Away then the sheriff and Robin did ride,
 To the forest of merry Sherwood,
 Then the sheriff did say, God preserve us this day,
 From a man they call Robin Hood.
 But when a little farther they came,
 Bold Robin he chanc'd to 'spy,
 An hundred head of good fat deer
 Come tripping the sheriff full nigh.

How like you my horned beasts, good Master Sheriff?

They be fat and fair to see,

I tell thee, good fellow, I would I were gone

For I like not thy company.

Then Robin set his horn to his mouth,

And blew out blasts three;

Then quickly and anon there came Little John,

And all his company.

What is your will, Master, then said Little John,

I pray come tell unto me?

I have brought hither the sheriff of Nottingham

This day to dine with thee.

He is welcome to me then, said Little John,

I hope he will honestly pay;

I know he has gold, if it were but well told,

Will serve us to drink a whole day.

Then Robin took his mantle from his back,

And laid it upon the ground;

And out of the sheriff's portmantua he

Soon told five hundred pound.

Then Robin he brought him through the wood,

And set him on his dapple grey;

O have me commended to your wife at home;

So Robin went laughing away.

9. ROBIN HOOD and the TANNER;

Or, ROBIN HOOD met with his Match.

Tune of ROBIN HOOD and the STRANGER.

IN Nottingham there lived a jolly tanner,
With a hey down, down, and a down,
His name is Arthur-a-Bland;
There is never a Squire in Nottinghamshire,
Dare bid bold Arthur to stand.

With a long staff upon his shoulder,
So well he can clear his way :
By two and by three he made them to flee,
For he hath no list to stay.
And as he went forth one summer's morning,
Into the forest of merry Sherwood,
To view the red deer that run here and there,
There met he bold Robin Hood.
As soon as bold Robin did him espy,
He thought the same sport would make,
Therefore out of hand he bid him to stand,
And thus unto him did spake.
Why, who art thou, thou bold fellow,
That range'st so boldly here ?
In sooth, to be brief, thou look'st like a thief,
That comes to steal our king's deer.
For I am a keeper in this forest,
The king puts me in trust
To look to the deer, that run here and there ;
Therefore stop thee I must.
If thou be'st a keeper in this forest,
And hast such a great command,
Yet you must have more partakers in store,
Before you make me to stand.
No, I have no more partakers in store,
Or, any that I do need ;
But I have a staff of another oak craft,
I know it will do the deed.
For thy sword and thy bow I care not a straw,
Nor all thy arrows to boot,
If thou get'st a knock upon thy bare scap,
Thou can't as well sh—t as shoot.
Speak cleanly, good fellow, said jolly Robin,
And give better terms unto me ;
Else I'll thee correct for thy neglect,
And make thee more mannerly.
Marry gap with a wanton, quoth Arthur-a-Bland,
Art thou such a goodly man ?
I care not a fig for thy looking so big,
Mend yourself where you can.
Then Robin Hood unbuckled his belt,
And laid down his bow so long :
He took up a staff of another oak craft,
That was both stiff and strong.
I yield to thy weapon, said jolly Robin,
Since thou wilt not yield to mine :

For I have a staff of another oak craft,
 Not half a foot longer than thine.
 But let me measure, said jolly Robin,
 Before we begin the fray ;
 For I will not have mine to be longer than thine,
 For that will be counted foul play.
 I pass not for length, bold Arthur reply'd,
 My staff is of oak so free ;
 Eight feet and a half, it will knock down a calf,
 And I hope it will knock down thee.
 Then Robin could no longer forbear,
 But gave him a very good knock ;
 But quickly and soon the blood it ran down,
 Before it was ten of the clock.
 Then Arthur soon recover'd himself,
 And gave him a knock on the crown,
 That from every side of Robin Hood's head,
 The blood ran trickling down.
 Then Robin raged like a wild boar,
 As soon as he saw his blood :
 Then Bland was in haste, he laid on so fast,
 If he had been cleaving of wood.
 And about, and about, and about they went,
 Like two wild boars in a chase.
 Striving to aim each other to maim,
 Leg, arm, or any other place.
 And knock for knock they lustily dealt,
 Which held for two hours or more ;
 That all the wood rang at every bang,
 They ply'd their work so fore.
 Hold thy hand, hold thy hand, said Robin Hood,
 And let thy quarrel fall ;
 For here we may thrash our bones all to mash,
 And get no coin at all.
 And in the forest of merry Sherwood
 Hereafter thou shalt be free :
 God ha' mercy for nought, my freedom I bought,
 Im ay thank my good staff, and not thee.
 What tradesman art thou, said jolly Robin,
 Good fellow, I prithee me show ;
 And also me tell, in what place you dwell ?
 For both of these fain would I know.
 I am a tanner, bold Arthur reply'd,
 In Nottingham long have I wrought ;
 And if thou'lt come there, I vow and swear,
 I'll tan thy hide for nought.

God-a-mercy, good fellow, said jolly Robin,
 Since thou art so kind and free,
 And if thou wilt tan my hide for nought,
 I'll do as much for thee.
 And if thou wilt forsake thy tanner's trade,
 To live in the green wood with me,
 My name is Robin Hood, I swear by the wood,
 To give thee both gold and fee.
 If thou be Robin Hood, bold Arthur reply'd,
 As I think well thou art,
 Then here's my hand, my name's Arthur-a-Bland,
 We two will never part.
 But tell me, O tell me, where is Little John,
 Of him I fain would hear ;
 For we are ally'd by the mother's side,
 And he is my kinsman dear.
 Then Robin Hood blew on his bugle horn,
 He blew both loud and shrill ;
 And quick and anon he saw Little John,
 Come tripping over the hill ;
 O what is the matter ? then said Little John,
 Master, I pray you tell ?
 Why do you stand with your staff in your hand,
 I fear all is not well.
 O man I do stand; and he makes me to stand,
 The tanner that stands by my side ;
 He is a bonny blade, and master of his trade,
 For he has foundly tann'd my hide.
 He is to be commended, then said Little John,
 If such a feat he can do ;
 If he be so stout, we will have a bout,
 And he shall tan my hide too.
 Hold thy hand, hold thy hand, said Robin Hood,
 For as I do understand,
 He's a yeoman good of thy own blood;
 For his name is Arthur-a-Bland.
 Then Little John threw his staff away,
 As far as he could fling,
 And ran out of hand to Arthur-a-Bland;
 And about his neck did cling.
 With loving respect, there was no neglect,
 They were neither nice nor coy
 Each other did face with a lovely grace,
 And both did weep for joy.
 Then Robin Hood took them both by the hands,
 And danc'd about the oak tree,

For three merry men, and three merry men,

And three merry men we be.

And ever hereafter as long as we live,

We three will be as one :

The wood it shall ring, and the old wife sing,

Of Robin Hood, Arthur, and John.

7. ROBIN HOOD and the Jolly TINKER.

Tune of, In Summer time.

IN summer time, when leaves grow green,

Down, a down, a down,

And birds sing on every tree,

Hey down, a down,

Robin Hood went to Nottingham,

Down, a down, a down,

As fast as he could dree.

Hey down, a down, a down.

And as he came to Nottingham,

A tinker he did meet,

And seeing him a lusty blade,

He did him kindly greet :

Where dost thou dwell, quoth Robin Hood,

I pray thee now me tell ?

Sad news I hear there is abroad,

I fear all is not well.

What is that news, the tinker said,

Tell me without delay ?

I am a tinker by my trade,

And do live in Banbury.

As for the news, quoth Robin Hood,

It is but as I hear,

Two tinkers were set in the stocks,

For drinking ale and beer.

If that be all, the tinker he said,
As I may say to you,
Your news is not worth a fart,
Since that they all be true.
For drinking good ale and beer,
You will not lose your part ;
No, by my faith, quoth Robin Hood,
I love it with all my heart.
What news abroad, quoth Robin Hood,
Tell me what thou dost hear ?
Seeing thou go'st from town to town,
Some news thou need'st not fear.
All the news I have, the tinker said,
I hear it is for good,
It is to seek a bold outlaw,
Which they call Robin Hood.
I have a warrant from the king,
To take him where I can ;
If you can tell me where he is,
I will make you a man.
The king would give an hundred pounds,
That he could but him see :
And if we can but now him get,
It will serve thee and me.
Let me see the warrant, said Robin Hood,
I will see if it be right ;
And I will do the best I can
For to take him this night.
That will I not, the tinker said,
None with it will I trust ;
And where he is if you'll not tell,
Take him by force I must.
But Robin Hood perceiving well
How then the game would go,
If you would go to Nottingham,
We shall find him I know.
A crab-tree staff the tinker had,
Which was both good and strong,
Robin he had a good strong blade ;
So they went both along.
And when they came to Nottingham,
There they took up their inn ;
And they caried for ale and wine,
To drink it was no sin.
But ale and wine they drank so fast,
That the tinker he forgot,

What

What thing he was about to do,
It fell so to his lot ;
That, while the tinker fell asleep,
Robin made haste away,
And left the tinker in the lurch,
For the great shot to pay.
But when the tinker did awake,
And saw that he was gone,
He called out then for the host,
And thus he made his moan :
I had a warrant from the king,
Which might have done me good,
This is to seek a bold outlaw,
Some call him Robin Hood :
But now the warrant and money is gone,
Nothing I have to pay ;
And he that promised to be my friend,
Is gone and fled away.
That friend you speak of, said the host,
They call him Robin Hood ;
And when that he first met with you,
He meant you little good.
Had I but known it had been he,
When that I had him here,
The one of us should have try'd our might
Which should have paid full dear.
In the mean time I will away,
No longer here I'll abide,
But I will go and seek him out,
Whatever me betide.
But one thing I would gladly know,
What here I have to pay :
Ten shillings just, then said the host,
I'll pay you without delay ;
Or else take here my working bag,
And my good hammer too,
And if I light but on the knave,
I will then soon pay you.
The only way, then said the host,
And not to stand in fear,
Is to seek him among the parks,
Killing of the king's deer.
The tinker he then went with speed,
And made then no delay,
Till he had found bold Robin Hood,
That they might have a fray.

At last he 'spy'd him in a park,
 Hunting then of the deer.
 What knave is that, quoth Robin Hood,
 That doth come me so near ?
 No knave, no knave, the tinker said,
 And that you soon shall know,
 Whether of us has done any wrong,
 My crab-tree staff shall show.
 Then Robin drew his gallant blade,
 Made then of trusty steel :
 But the tinker he laid on so fast,
 That he made Robin reel.
 Then Robin's anger did arise,
 He fought right manfully,
 Until he made the tinker
 Then almost fit to fly.
 With that they laid about again,
 And ply'd their weapons fast ;
 The tinker thrash'd his bones so sore,
 That he made him yield at last.
 A boon, a boon, then Robin cry'd,
 If thou wilt grant it me ?
 Before I do it, the tinker said,
 I'll hang thee on this tree.
 But the tinker looking him about,
 Robin his horn did blow ;
 Then came unto him Little John.
 And Will. Scarlet also.
 What is the matter, quoth Little John,
 You sit on the highway side ?
 Here is a tinker that stands by.
 That hath well paid my hide.
 What tinker then, said Little John,
 Fain that blade would I see,
 And I would try what I could do,
 If he'll do as much for me.
 But Robin then he wish'd them both
 They would the quarrel cease ;
 That henceforth we may be as one,
 And ever live in peace.
 And for the jovial tinker's part,
 A hundred pounds I give
 In a year to maintain him on,
 As long as he doth live.
 In manhood he is a mettled man,
 And a metal man by trade ;

Never

Never thought I that any man
 Should have made me so afraid,
 And if he will be one of us,
 We will take all one fare,
 And whatsoever we do get,
 He shall have his full share.
 So the tinker he was content
 With them to go along,
 And with them a part to take :
 And so I end my song.

8. ROBIN HOOD and ALLEN-A-DALE;

Or, The Manner of ROBIN HOOD, rescuing a young Lady from an old Knight, to whom she was going to be married, and restoring her to ALLEN-A-DALE her former Love.

Tune of, ROBIN HOOD in the Green Wood.

COME listen to me, you gallants so free,
 All you that love mirth for to hear,
 And I will tell you of a bold outlaw,
 That lived in Nottinghamshire.
 As Robin Hood in the forest stood,
 All under the green wood tree,
 There he was aware of a brave young man,
 As fine as fine could be.
 The youngster was cloathed in scarlet red,
 In scarlet fine and gay ;
 And he did frisk it over the plain,
 And chaunted a round-de-lay.
 As Robin Hood next morning stood
 Amongst the leaves so gay,
 There did 'spy the same young man
 Come drooping along the way.

The

The Scarlet he wore the day before,
 It was clean cast away ;
 And at every step he fetch'd a sigh,
 Alack and a well a day !
 Then stepp'd forth brave Little John,
 And Midge the miller's son,
 Which made the young man mend his bow,
 When as he see them come,
 Stand off, stand off, the young man said,
 What is your will with me ?
 You must come before our master strait,
 Under yon green wood tree.
 And when he came bold Robin before,
 Robin ask'd him courteously,
 O hast thou any money to spare,
 For my merry men and me ?
 I have no money the young man said,
 But five shillings and a ring ;
 And that I have kept this seven long years,
 To have it at my wedding.
 Yesterday I should have married a maid,
 But she soon from me was ta'en,
 And chosen to be an old knight's delight,
 Whereby my poor heart is slain.
 What is thy name, then said Robin Hood,
 Come tell me without fail
 By the faith of my body, then said the young man,
 My name is Allen-a-Dale.
 What wilt thou give me, said Robin Hood,
 In ready gold or fee,
 To help thee to thy true love again,
 And deliver her up to thee ?
 I have no money, then quoth the young man,
 No ready gold or fee,
 But I will swear upon a book,
 Thy true servant to be.
 How many miles is it to thy true love,
 Come tell me without guile ;
 By the faith of my body, then said the young man,
 It is but five little mile.
 Then Robin he hasted over the plain,
 He did neither stint or lint,
 Until he came unto the church
 Where Allen should keep his wedding,
 What hast thou here, the bishop then said,
 I prithee now tell unto me ?

I am

I am a bold harper, quoth Robin Hood,
 And the best in the north country ;
 O welcome, O welcome, the bishop then said,
 That music best pleaseth me.
 You shall have no music, quoth Robin Hood,
 Till the Bride and the bridegroom I see.
 With that came in a wealthy knight,
 Which was both grave and old,
 And after him a finikin las,
 Did shine like the glittering gold.
 This is not a fit match, quoth bold Robin Hood,
 That you do seem to make here,
 For since we are come unto the church,
 The bride shall chuse her own dear.
 Then Robin Hood put his horn to his mouth,
 And blew out blasts two or three :
 Then four and twenty bowmen bold
 Came leaping over the lee,
 And when they came into the church-yard,
 Marching all a row.
 The first man was Allen-a-Dale,
 To give bold Robin his bow.
 This is thy true love, Robin he said,
 Young Allen, as I hear say,
 And you shall be married at the same time,
 Before we depart away.
 That shall not be, the bishop he said,
 For thy word shall not stand ;
 They shall be three times ask'd in the church,
 As the law is of our land.
 Robin Hood pull'd off the bishop's coat,
 And put it upon Little John ;
 By the faith of my body, then Robin he said,
 This cloth does make thee a man.
 When Little John went to the choir,
 The people began to laugh ;
 He ask'd them seven times in the church,
 Least three times should not be enough.
 Who gives this maid, said Little John ?
 Quoth Robin Hood, that do I,
 And he that takes her from Allen-a-Dale,
 Full dearly shall her buy.
 And thus having ended this merry wedding,
 The bride she look'd like a queen ;
 And so they return'd to the merry Green Wood,
 Amongst the leaves so green.

9. ROBIN HOOD and the SHEPHERD.

Shewing how ROBIN HOOD, LITTLE JOHN,* and the SHEPHERD fought a fore COMBAT.

Tune of ROBIN HOOD and QUEEN CATHERINE.

ALL gentlemen, and yeoman good,
Down, a down, a down,
I wish you to draw near;
For a story of bold Robin Hood
Unto you I will declare.
Down, a down, a down.
As Robin Hood walked the forest along,
Some Pastime for to 'spy,
There he was aware of a jolly shepherd,
That on the ground did lie.
Arise, arise, said jolly Robin,
And now come let me see
What's in thy bag and thy bottle, I say,
Come tell it unto me.
What's that to thee, thou proud fellow,
Tell me as I do stand?
What' hast thou to do with my bottle and bag?
Let me see thy command.
My sword that hangeth by my side,
Is at my command I know
Come let me taste of thy bottle,
Or it may breed thee woe.
The devil a drop, thou proud fellow
Of my bottle shalt thou see,
Until thy valour here be try'd,
Whether thou'lt fight or flee.
What shall we fight for? said Robin Hood,
Come tell it unto me;

Here's

Here's twenty pounds in good bright gold,
Win it and take it thee.
The shepherd stood all in amaze,
And knew not what to say;
I have no money, thou proud fellow,
But bag and bottle I will lay.
I am content, thou shepherd swain,
Fling them down on the ground;
But it will breed thee mickle pain,
To win my twenty pounds.
Come draw thy sword, thou proud fellow,
That standeth too long to prate;
This hook of mine shall let thee know,
A coward I do hate.
So they fell to it full hard and fore,
It was on a summer's day,
From ten to four in the afternoon
The shepherd held him in play.
Robin's buckler prov'd his chief defence,
And sav'd him many a bang.
For every blow the shepherd struck
Made Robin's sword cry twang,
Many a sturdy blow the shepherd gave,
And that bold Robin found,
'Till the blood ran trickling from his head,
Then he fell to the ground.
Arise, arise, thou proud fellow,
And thou shalt have fair play,
If thou wilt yield before thou go,
That I have won the day.
A boon, a boon, cry'd bold Robin,
If that a man thou be,
Then let me have my bugle horn,
And blow out blasts three.
Then said the shepherd to bold Robin,
To that I will agree;
Nor if thou should'st blow 'till to-morrow morn,
I scorn one foot to flee.
Then Robin he set his horn to his mouth,
And he blew with might and main,
Until he 'spied Little John
Come tripping o'er the plain.
Who is yonder, thou proud fellow,
That comes down yonder hill?
Yonder is John, bold Robin Hood's man,
Shall fight with thee thy fill.

What is the matter, said Little John,
Master, come tell unto me ;
My case is bad, said Robin Hood,
For the shepherd hath conquer'd me.
I am glad of that, cries Little John,
Shepherd turn thou to me ;
For a bout with thee I mean to have,
Either come fight or flee.
With all my heart, thou proud fellow,
For it shall never be said,
That shepherd'd hook, at thy sturdy look,
Will one jot be dismay'd.
So they fell to it, hard and sore,
Striving for victory,
I will know, says John, e'er we give o'er,
Whether thou wilt fight or flee.
The shepherd gave John a sturdy blow,
With the hook under his chin ;
Beswore thy heart, said Little John,
Thou basely dost begin.
Nay, that is nothing, said the shepherd,
Either yield to me the day,
Or I will bang thy back and sides,
Before thou goest thy way.
What, dost thou think, thou proud fellow,
That thou can'st conquer me ?
Nay, thou shalt know, before I go,
I'll fight before I'll flee.
Again the shepherd laid on him,
The shepherd he begun ;
Hold thy hand, cry'd jolly Robin,
I will yield the wager won.
With all my heart, said Little John,
To that I will agree ;
For he is the flower of shepherd swains,
The like I ne'er did see.
Thus have you heard of Robin Hood,
Also of Little John ;
How a shepherd swain did conquer them,
The like was never known.

20. The famous Battle between ROBIN HOOD and the Curtal FRYAR, near FOUNTAIN-DALE.

To a NORTHERN Tune.

IN summer time, when leaves grow green
And flowers are fresh and gay,
Robin Hood and his merry men
Were all dispos'd to play.
Then some would leap, and some would run,
And some use artillery;
Which of you can a good bow draw,
A good archer for to be?
Which of you can kill a buck,
Or who can kill a doe;
Or who can kill a hart of Greece
Five hundred foot him fro'?
Will. Scarlet he did kill a buck,
And Midge he did kill a doe;
And Little John kill'd a hart of Greece
Five hundred foot him fro',
God's blessing on thy heart, said Robin Hood,
That shot such a shot for me;
I would ride my horse an hundred miles,
To find one could match thee.
That caused Will. Scarlet to laugh,
He laugh'd full heartily;
There lives a fryar in Fountain Abbey
Well beat both him and thee.
The Curtal Fryar in Fountain Abbey
Well can a strong bow draw,
He will beat you and your yeomen,
Set them all on a row.
Robin Hood took a solemn oath,
It was by Mary free,

C

That

That he would neither eat nor drink,
'Till the fryar he did see.

Robin Hood put on his harnes good,

And on his head a cap of steel,

Broad sword and buckler by his side,

And they became him well.

He took his bow into his hand,

It was of a trusty tree,

With a sheaf of arrows by his side,

And to Fountain-Dale went he.

And coming to fair Fountain-Dale,

No farther would he ride;

There he was aware of a curtal fryar,

Walking by the water-side.

The fryar had on a harnes good,

And on his head a rap of steel,

Broad sword and buckler by his side,

And they became him well.

Robin Hood lighted from off his horse,

And tied him to a thorn;

Carry me over the water thou curtal fryar,

Or else thy life's forlorn.

The fryar took Robin Hood on his back,

Deep water he did betide,

And neither spoke good word nor bad,

'Till he came on the other side.

Lightly stept Robin off the fryar's back:

The fryar said to him again,

Carry me over the water thou fine fellow,

Or it will breed thee pain.

Robin Hood took the fryar on his back,

Deep water he did betide,

And spoke neither good word nor bad,

'Till he came on the other side.

Lightly leap'd the fryar off Robin Hood's back,

Bold Robin said to him again,

Carry me over the water thou curtal fryar,

Or it shall breed thee pain.

The fryar took Robin on his back again,

And stept up to his knee.

And 'till he came to the middle stream,

Neither good nor bad spoke he,

And coming to the middle stream,

Then he threw Robin in;

And chuse thee, chuse thee, fine fellow;

Whether thou wilt sink or swim.

Robin

Robin swam to a bush of broom,
 The fryar to the willow wand;
 Bold Robin Hood is gone to the shore,
 And took his bow in his hand.
 One of the best arrows under his belt
 To the fryar he let fly;
 The curtal fryar with his steel buckler,
 Did put his arrow by.
 Shoot on, shoot on, thou fine fellow,
 Shoot as thou hast begun,
 If thou shoot here a summer's day,
 Thy mark I will not shun.
 Robin shot on so passing well,
 'Till his arrows all were gone;
 They took their swords and steel bucklers,
 And fought with might and main,
 From ten o'clock that very day,
 'Till four in the afternoon.
 Then Robin Hood came on his knees,
 Of the fryar to beg a boon.
 A boon, a boon, thou curtal fryar,
 I beg it on my knee;
 Give me leave to set my horn to my mouth,
 And to blow blasts three.
 That I will do, said the curtal fryar,
 Of thy blasts I have no doubt;
 I hope thou'lt blow so passing well,
 'Till both thy eyes drop out.
 Robin Hood set his horn to his mouth,
 And blew out blasts three:
 Half an hundred yeomen with their bows bent,
 Came ranging over the lee.
 Whose men are these, said the fryar,
 That come so hastily?
 Those are mine, said Robin Hood,
 Fryar, what's that to thee?
 A boon, a boon, said the curtal fryar,
 The like I gave to thee;
 Give me leave to set my fist to my mouth
 And to whute whutes three.
 That will I do, said Robin Hood,
 Or else I were to blame;
 Three whutes in a fryar's fist
 Would make me glad a fain.
 The fryar he set his fist to his mouth,
 and whuted him whutes three?

36 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

Half a hundred good bay dogs
 Came running over the lee.
 Here is for every man a dog,
 And I myself for thee :
 Nay, by my faith, said Robin Hood,
 Fryar, that may not be.
 Two dogs at once to Robin did go,
 The one behind the other before ;
 Robin Hood's mantle of Lincoln green,
 From off his back they tore.
 And whether his men shot east or west,
 Or they shot north or south,
 The curtal dogs, so taught were they,
 They caught their arrows in their mouths.
 Take up thy dogs, said Little John,
 Fryar, at my bidding thee ;
 Whose man art thou, said the curtal fryar,
 Comes here to prate to me ?
 I am Little John, Robin Hood's man,
 Fryar, I will not lie :
 If thou take not thy dogs anon,
 I'll take them up and thee.
 Little John had a bow in his hand,
 He shot with might and main :
 Soon half a score of the fryar's dogs
 Laid dead upon the plain.
 Hold thy hand, good fellow, said the curtal fryar,
 Thy master and I will agree,
 And we will have new orders taken
 With all the haste that may be.
 If thou wilt forsake fair Fountain-Dale,
 And Fountain Abbey free,
 Every Sunday throughout the year
 A noble shall be thy fee.
 Every Sunday throughout the year
 Chang'd shall thy garment be,
 And if thou wilt go to fair Nottingham,
 And there remain with me.
 The curtal fryar had kept Fountain-Dale
 Seven long years and more :
 There was neither knight, lord, nor earl
 Could make him yield before.

27. ROBIN HOOD newly Revived; Or,

His meeting and fighting with his Cousin SCARLET.

To a New Tune.

COME listen awhile, you gentlemen all,

With a hey down, down, and a down,

That are this bower within,

For a Story of gallant Robin Hood

I propose now to begin.

What time of day? quoth Robin Hood,

Quoth Little John, 'tis in the prime:

Why then we will to the green wood gang,

For we have no victuals to dine.

As Robin Hood rode the forest along,

It was in the midst of the day;

There he was aware of a dext' young man,

As ever walk'd on the way.

His doublet was of silk, he said,

His stockings like scarlet shone;

And bravely he walked along the way,

To Robin Hood then unknown.

A herd of deer was in the bend,

All feeding before his face:

Now the best of you I'll have to my dinner,

And that in a little space.

Now the stranger he made no mickle ado,

But he bent a right good bow,

And the best of all the herd he slew,

Full forty yards him fro'.

Well shot, well shot, said Robin Hood then,

That shot it was in time;

And if thou wilt accept of the place,

Thou shalt be a bold yeoman of mine.

38 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

Go play the chivan, the stranger then said,

Make haste and quickly go,

Or with my fist, be sure of this,

I'll give thee buffets sto'.

Thou had'st not best buffet me, quoth Robin Hood,

For altho' I am forlorn,

Yet I have those will take my part,

If I do blow my horn.

Thou had'st not best wind thy horn, the stranger said,

Be'st thou never in so much haste,

For I can draw a good broad sword.

And quickly cut the blast.

Then Robin Hood bent a very good bow,

To shoot, and that he would fain;

The stranger he bent a very good bow,

To shoot at bold Robin again.

Hold thy hand, hold thy hand, quoth Robin Hood,

To shoot it would be in vain;

For if we shoot the one at the other,

The one of us must be slain.

But let's take our swords and broad bucklers,

And gang under yonder tree,

As I hope to be sav'd, the stranger he said,

One one foot I will not flee.

Then Robin Hood lent the stranger a blow,

Most scared him out of his wits:

Thou felt blow, the stranger he said,

That shall be better quits.

The stranger then with a good broad sword

Hit Robin on the crown,

That from every hair of bold Robin Hood's head

The blood it ran trickling down.

God-a-mercy, good fellow, quoth Robin Hood then,

And for this thou hast done,

Tell me, good fellow, who thou art?

Tell me where thou do'st won.

The stranger then answer'd bold Robin Hood,

I'll tell thee where I do dwell;

In Maxwell town I was born and bred,

My name is young Gamewell.

For killing of my father's steward,

Am forc'd to the English wood,

And for to seek an uncle of mine,

Some call him Robin Hood.

But art thou a cousin of Robin Hood then

The sooner we shall have done:

As I hope to be sav'd, the stranger then said,
 I am his own sister's son.
 But, lord! what kissing and courting was there,
 When these two cousins did meet!
 And they went all that summer's day,
 And Little John did not meet.
 And when they met with Little John,
 He then unto him did say;
 O master, pray where have you been;
 You have tarry'd so long away?
 I met with a stranger, quoth Robin Hood,
 Full fore he hath beaten me;
 Then I'll have a bout with him, said Little John,
 And try if he can beat me.
 O no, O no, quoth Robin Hood then,
 Little John, it must not be so;
 For he is my own dear sister's son,
 And cousins I have no mo'.
 But he shall be a bold yeoman of mine,
 My chief man next to thee;
 And I Robin Hood, and thou Little John,
 And Scarlet he shall be.
 And we will be three of the bravest outlaws
 That live in the north country.
 If thou wilt hear more of bold Robin Hood,
 In the second part it will be.
 Then bold Robin Hood to the north he went,
 With valour and mickle might,
 With sword by his side, which oft had been try'd,
 To fight and recover his right.
 The first that he met was a bonny bold Scot,
 His servant he said he would be;
 No, quoth Robin Hood, it cannot be good,
 For thou wilt prove false unto me.
 Thou hast not been true to fire or cyz,
 Nay, marry, the Scot he said,
 As true as your heart, I'll never part,
 Good master be not afraid.
 Then Robin turned his face to the east,
 Fight on, my merry men stout,
 Our case is good, quoth Robin Hood,
 And we shall not be beaten out.
 The battle grew hot on every side,
 The Scotchmen made great moan;
 Quoth Jockey, Geud faith, they fight on each side;
 Would I were with my wife Joan.

40 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND,

The enemy compass'd brave Robin about,
 'Tis long ere the battle ends ;
 There's neither will yield, nor give up the field,
 For both are supply'd with friends.
 This song it was made in Robin Hood's days ;
 Let's pray unto Jove above,
 To give us true peace that mischief may cease,
 And war may give place unto love.

12. RENOWNED ROBIN HOOD ;
 Or, His famous Archery truly related in the worthy Exploits
 he performed before QUEEN CATHERINE.
 To a New Tune.

GOLD ta'en from the king's harbingers,
 Down, a down, a down,
 As seldom hath been seen,
 Down, a down, a down,
 And carried by bold Robin Hood,
 For a present to the Queen,
 Down, a down, a down.
 If that I live one year to an end,
 Thus did Queen Catherine say,
 Bold Robin Hood I'll be thy friend,
 And all thy yeomen gay.
 The Queen is to her chamber gone,
 As fast as she could wen ;
 She calls unto her lovely page,
 His name was Richard Partington.
 Come thou hither to me, thou lovely page,
 Come thou hither to me ;
 For thou must post to Nottingham,
 As fast as thou can'st dree ;
 And as thou go'st to Nottingham,
 Search every English wood ;

Enquire

Enquire of one good yeoman or another,
 That can tell thee of Robin Hood,
 Sometimes he walk'd, sometimes he ran,
 As fast as he could wend,
 And when he came to Nottingham,
 There he took up his inn.
 He calls for a bottle of Rhenish wine,
 And drinks a health to the Queen,
 Wishing he might now speedily
 Find out jolly Robin.
 There set a yeoman by his side,
 Who said sweet page, tell me
 What is thy business and thy cause,
 So far in the north country?
 This is my business and my cause,
 Sir, I'll tell it you for good,
 To enquire of one good yeoman or another,
 To tell me of Robin Hood.
 I'll get my horse betimes in the morn,
 Be it by the break of day,
 And I will shew thee bold Robin Hood,
 And all his yeomen gay.
 When that he came to Robin Hood's place,
 He fell down on his knee,
 Queen Catharine she does greet you well,
 She greets you well by me.
 She bids you post to fair London court,
 Not fearing any thing;
 For there shall be a little sport,
 And she has sent you her ring.
 Robin Hood took his mantle from his back,
 It was of Lincoln green,
 And sent it by this lovely page,
 For a present to the Queen.
 In Summer time, when leaves grow green,
 'Twas a comely fight to see,
 How Robin Hood had dressed himself,
 And all his yeomandree.
 He cloathed his men in Lincoln green,
 And himself in scarlet red;
 Black hats, white feathers, all alike,
 Now bold Robin Hood is rid,
 And when he came to London court,
 He fell down on his knee.
 Thou art welcome, Locksley, said the Queen,
 And all thy yeomandree.

Come

42 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

Come hither, Tepus, said the King,
 Bow-bearer after me ;
 Come measure me out with the line, ;
 How long our mark must be,
 What is this wager ? said the Queen ?
 For that I must know here ;
 Three hundred tons of Rhenish wine,
 Three hundred tons of beer,
 Three hundred of the fattest harts
 That run on Dallen lee ;
 That's a princely wager, said the Queen,
 That I must needs tell thee.
 With that bespoke one Clifton then,
 Full quickly and full soon,
 Measure no mark for us, most Sovereign Leige,
 We will shoot at sun and moon.
 Full fifteen score your marks shall be,
 Full fifteen score shall stand,
 I'll lay my bow, said Clifton then,
 I'll cleave the willow wand.
 With that the King's archers led about,
 'Till it was three to one ;
 With that the ladies began for to shout,
 Madam your game is gone.
 A boon, a boon, Queen Catherine cries,
 I crave it on my knee ;
 Is there never a knight of your privy council
 On Queen Catherine's side will be ?
 Come hither to me, Sir Robert Lee,
 Thou art a knight full good ;
 For I do know by thy pedigree,
 Thou sprung'st from Gower's blood,
 Come hither to me thou bishop of Herefordshire,
 For a noble priest was he ;
 By my silver mitre, said the bishop then,
 I'll not bet one penny.
 'The King has archers of his own,
 Full ready and full right :
 And these be strangers every one,
 No man knows what they height.
 What wilt thou bet ? said Robin Hood,
 Thou see'st our game's the worse ;
 By my silver Mitre, then said the bishop,
 All the money in my purse.
 What is in thy purse ? said Robin Hood,
 Now throw it on the ground ;

 Robin Hood took his bag from his side,
 And threw on the green;
 Will, Scarlet then went smiling away,
 I know who this money must win.
 With that the King's archers led about,
 While it was three to three;
 With that the ladies gave a shout,
 Woodcock beware thy knee.
 It is three to three now, said the King,
 The next three pays for all;
 Robin Hood went and whisper'd the Queen,
 The King's part is but small.
 Then Robin Hood did leap about,
 He shot it under hand;
 And Clifton with a bearing arrow,
 He clove the willow wand.
 And little Midge, the Miller's son,
 He shot not much the worse;
 He shot within a finger of the prick,
 Now Bishop beware of thy purse.
 A boon, a boon, Queen Catherine cries,
 I crave it on my bare knee,
 That you will angry be with none
 That are of my party.
 They shall have forty days to come,
 And forty days to go,
 And three times forty days to sport and play,
 Then welcome friend or foe.
 Thou art welcome, Robin Hood, said the Queen,
 And so is Little John,
 And so is Midge, the Miller's son:
 Thrice welcome every one.
 Is this Robin Hood? the King then said,
 For it was told to me,
 That he is slain in the palace gate,
 So far in the north country.
 Is this Robin Hood? quoth the bishop then,
 As it seems well to be;
 Had I known it had been that bold outlaw,
 I would not have bet one penny.
 He took me late one Sunday night,
 And bound me fast to a tree,
 And made me sing a mass, god wot,
 To him and his yecomandree.

What

44 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

What, and if I did, says Robin Hood,

Of that mafs I was full fain ;

For recompence of that, he fays,

Here's half thy gold again.

Now nay, now nay, fays Little John,

Mafter, that may not be,

We muft give gifts to the king's officers ;

That gold will ferve thee and me.

13. ROBIN HOOD'S CHACE,

Or, A MERRY PROGRESS between ROBIN HOOD and KING HENRY.

Tune of ROBIN HOOD and the BEGGAR.

COME you gallants all, to you I call,
With a hey down, down, and a down,
That are now in this place ;
For a fong I will fing of Henry our King,
How he did bold Robin chace.
Queen Catherine ſhe then a match did make,
As plainly doth appear,
For three hundred tons of wine,
And three hundred tons of beer.
But ſhe had her archers to ſeek,
With their bows and arrows ſo good ;
But her mind it was bent, with a full intent,
To ſend for bold Robin Hood.
But when bold Robin Hood he came there,
Queen Catherine ſhe did ſay,
Thou art welcome, Lockſley, unto me,
And thou on my part muſt be.
If I miſs the mark, be it light or dark,
And all my yeomen gay,
For a match of ſhooting I have made
Then hanged I will be.

But

But when the game came to be play'd,
Bold Robin won it with grace;
But after the King was angry with him,
And vow'd he would him chase.
What tho' his pardon granted was,
While he with him did stay;
But yet the King was vex'd at him
When he was gone away.
Soon after the King from court did hie,
In a furious angry mood,
And often enquired both far and near
After bold Robin Hood.
But when the King to Nottingham came,
Bold Robin was in the wood:
O come, said he, and let me see
Who can find bold Robin Hood.
But when bold Robin he did hear,
The King had him in chase;
Then said Little John, 'tis time to be gone,
And that to another place.
And away they went to merry Sherwood,
And into Yorkshire he did hie;
And the King did follow with a hoop and a hallo,
But could not him come nigh.
Yet jolly Robin he passed along,
And went strait to Newcastle town,
And there they staid hours two or three,
And he to Berwick was gone.
When the King did see how Robin did flee,
He was vexed wonderous sore;
With a hoop and a hallo he vowed to follow,
And take him, or never give o'er.
Come now let's away, says Little John,
Let any man follow who dare;
To Carlisle we'll hie, with our company,
And so then to Lancaster.
From Lancaster then to Chester he went,
And so did good King Henry;
But Robin went away, for he durst not stay,
For fear of some treachery.
Says Robin, come let us for London go,
To see our royal Queen's face,
It may be she wants our company,
Which makes the King us chase.
When Robin he came Queen Catherine before,
He fell upon his knee!

If it please your Grace, I am come to this place,
To speak with King Henry.

Queen Catherine answer'd bold Robin again,

The King is gone to merry Sherwood,
And when he went away to me he did say,
He would go and seek Robin Hood.

Then fare you well my gracious Queen,

For to Sherwood I'll hie apace;

For fain would I see what he'd have with me,

If I could but meet with his Grace.

But when King Henry he came home,

Full weary, and vex'd in mind?

And that he did hear Robin had been there,

He blamed dame Fortune unkind.

You're welcome home, Queen Catherine cry'd.

Henry, my sovereign Leige;

Bold Robin Hood, that archer good,

Your person hath been to seek.

A boon, a boon, Queen Catherine cry'd,

I beg it here of your Grace,

To pardon his life, and seek not strife;

And so ends Robin Hood's chace.

14. ROBIN HOOD'S GOLDEN PRIZE.

Shewing how he robbed two PRIESTS of FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS.

Tune of, Robin Hood was a tall young Man, &c.

I HAVE heard talk of Robin Hood,
Derry, derry down,
And of brave Little John,
Of fryar Tuck, and Will. Scarlet,
Locksley, and maid Marrian.

But

But such a tale as this before
 I think was never known;
 For Robin Hood disguised himself,
 And from the wood is gone.
 Like to a fryar bold Robin Hood
 Was accoutred in his array:
 With hood, gown, beeds, and crucifix,
 He passed upon the way.
 He had not gone past miles two or three,
 But it was his chance to espy
 Two lusty priests clad all in black,
 Come riding gallantly.
 Benedicite, then said Robin Hood,
 Some pity on me take;
 Cross you my hand with a single groat,
 For our dear Lady's sake.
 For I have been wand'ring all this day,
 And nothing could I get;
 Not so much as one poor cup of drink,
 Nor bit of bread to eat.
 Now, by our holy Dame, the priest reply'd,
 We never a penny have;
 For we this morning have been robb'd,
 And could no money save.
 I am much afraid, said bold Robin Hood,
 That you both tell a lie;
 And now before you do go hence,
 I am resolv'd to try.
 When as the priests heard him say so,
 Then they rode away amain;
 But Robih Hood betook to his heels,
 And soon overtook them again.
 Then Robin Hood laid hold of them both,
 And pull'd them down from their horse.
 O spare us, fryar, the priest cry'd out,
 On us have some remorse.
 You said, you had no money, quoth Robin Hood,
 Wherefore, without delay,
 We three will fall down upon our knees,
 And for money we will pray.
 The priests they could not him gainsay,
 But down they kneel with speed:
 Send us, O fend us, then quoth they,
 Some money to serve our need.
 The priests did pray with mournful chear,
 Sometimes their hands did wring;

Sometimes

48 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

Sometimes they wept and tore their hair,
 Whilst Robin did merrily sing.
 When they had been praying for an hour's space.
 The priests did still lament;
 Then quoth Robin, now let us see
 What money heaven hath us sent.
 We will be sharers all alike
 Of money that we have:
 And there is never a one of us
 That his fellow will deceive.
 The priests their hands in their pockets put
 But money could find none:
 We will search ourselves, said Robin Hood,
 Each other, one by one,
 Then Robin Hood took pains to search them
 And found good store of gold,
 Five hundred pieces presently
 Upon the grass he told.
 Here is a brave shew, said Robin Hood,
 Such store of gold to see,
 And you each one shall have a part,
 Because you prayed so heartily,
 He gave them fifty pounds a-piece,
 And the rest himself did keep:
 The priests they durst not speak one word,
 But sighing wond'rous deep.
 With that the priests rose up from their knees,
 Thinking to have parted so:
 Nay, nay, says Robin Hood, one thing more
 I'll have to say ere you go.
 You shall be sworn, says bold Robin Hood,
 Upon this holy grass,
 That you will never tell lies again,
 Which way soever you do pass.
 The second oath that you here must make,
 That all the days of your lives,
 You never shall tempt maids unto sin,
 Nor lie with other mens wives.
 The last oath you shall take, is this,
 Be charitable to the poor;
 Say you met with a holy fryar,
 And I desire no more.
 He set them on their horses again,
 And away then they did ride;
 And he return'd to the merry green wood,
 With great joy, mirth, and pride,

15. ROBIN HOOD Rescuing WILL. STUTELY from the SHERIFF and his MEN, who had taken him Prisoner, and were going to hang him.

Tune of, ROBIN HOOD and QUEEN CATHARINE.

WHEN Robin Hood in the green wood stood,

Derry, derry down,
Under the green wood tree,
Tidings there came to him with speed,
Tidings for certainty.

Hey down, derry, derry down,
That Will. Stutely surprized was,
And eke in prison lay ;
Three varlets that the king had hir'd,
Did basely him betray,
Ay, and to-morrow hanged must be.

To-morrow as soon as 'tis day ;
Before they could the victory get,
Two of them did Stutely slay.
When Robin Hood did hear this news,

Lord ! it did grieve him fore ;
And to his merry men he did say,
Who altogether swore,
That Will, Stutely should rescued be,

And be brought back again :
Or else should many a gallant wight
For his sake there be slain.

He cloathed himself in scarlet then,
His men were all in green ;
A finer shew throughout the world
In no place could be seen.

Good Lord ! it was a gallant sight
To see them all on a row ;

With

30 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

With every man a good broad sword,
 And eke a good yew bow.
 Forth of the green wood are they gone,
 Yea all courageously,
 Resolving to bring Will. Stutely home,
 Or every man to die.
 And when they came the castle near,
 Wherein Will. Stutely lay;
 I hold it good, said Robin Hood,
 We here in ambush stay,
 And send one forth some news to hear,
 To yonder palmer fair,
 That stands under the castle wall,
 Some news he may declare.
 With that steps forth a brave young man,
 Which was of courage bold,
 Thus did he speak to the old man,
 I pray thee palmer old,
 Tell me, if thou rightly ken,
 When must Will. Stutely die;
 Who is one of bold Robin Hood's men,
 And here doth prisoner lie?
 Alas! alas! the palmer said,
 And for ever woe is me!
 Will. Stutely hang'd will be this day.
 On yonder gallows tree.
 O had his noble master known,
 He would some succour send;
 A few of his bold yeomandree,
 Full soon would fetch him hence.
 Ay, that is true, the young man said;
 Ay, that is true, said he;
 Or if they were near to this place,
 They soon would set him free.
 But fare thee well, thou good old man,
 Farewell, and thanks to thee;
 If Stutely hanged be this day,
 Reveng'd his death will be.
 No sooner was he from the palmer gone,
 But the gates were open'd wide,
 And out of the castle Will. Stutely came,
 Guarded on every side.
 When he was forth of the castle come,
 And saw no help was nigh;
 Thus he did say to the sheriff,
 Thus he said gallantly;

ROBIN HOOD's GARLAND. 51

Now seeing that I needs must die,
 Grant me one boon, said he,
 For my noble master ne'er had a man,
 That yet was hang'd on a tree.
 Give me a sword all in my hand,
 And let me be unbound,
 And with thee and thy men I'll fight,
 'Till I lie dead on the ground.
 But this desire he would not grant,
 His wishes were in vain ;
 For the sheriff swore he hang'd should be,
 And not by the sword be slain.
 Do but unbind my hands, he says,
 I will no weapon crave,
 And if I hanged be this day,
 Damnation let me have.
 O no, no, no, the sheriff said,
 Thou shalt on the gallows die,
 Ay, and so shall thy master too,
 If ever in me it lie.
 O dastard coward, Stutely cries,
 Faint hearted peasant slave !
 If ever my master doth thee meet,
 Thou shalt thy payment have.
 My noble master doth thee scorn,
 And all thy cowardly crew ;
 Such silly imps unable are,
 Bold Robin to subdue.
 But when he was to the gallows gone,
 And ready to bid adieu,
 Out of a bush steps Little John,
 And comes Will. Stutely to,
 I pray thee, Will, before thou die,
 Of thy dear friends take leave ;
 I needs must borrow him for a while,
 How say you, master sheeve ?
 Now, as I live, the sheriff said,
 That varlet will I know ;
 Some sturdy rebel is that same,
 Therefore let him not go.
 Then Little John most hastily,
 Away cut Stutely's bands,
 And from one of the sheriff's men,
 A sword twitch'd from his hands.
 Here, Will, take thou this same,
 Thou can'st it better sway ;

52 ROBIN HOOD's GARLAND.

And here defend thyself awhile,
 For aid will come straitway.
 And there they turn'd them back to back,
 In the midst of them that day,
 'Till Robin Hood approached near,
 With many an archer gay.
 With that an arrow from them flew,
 I wist from Robin Hood;
 Make haste, make haste, the sheriff he said,
 Make haste, for it is not good.
 The sheriff is gone, and his doughty men
 Thought it no boot to stay,
 But, as their master had them taught,
 Then ran full fast away.
 O stay, O stay, Will. Stutely said,
 Take leave ere you depart:
 You ne'er will catch bold Robin Hood,
 Unless you dare him meet.
 O ill betide you, said Robin Hood,
 That you so soon are gone;
 My sword may in the scabbard rest,
 For here our work is done.
 I little thought, Will. Stutely said,
 When I come to this place,
 For to have met with Little John,
 Or seen my master's face.
 Thus Stutely was at liberty set,
 And safe brought from his foe;
 O thanks, O thanks to my master,
 Since here it was not so.
 And once again my fellows all,
 We shall in the green wood meet,
 Where we make our bow-strings twang,
 Musick for us most sweet.

16. The NOBLE FISHERMAN: Or, ROBIN HOOD'S PREFERMENT.

Tune of, In Summer Time, &c.

IN summer time when leaves grow green,
When they do grow both green and long,
Of a bold outlaw, call'd Robin Hood,
It is of him I sing this song.
When the lilly leaf, and cowslip sweet,
Both bud and spring with merry cheer,
This outlaw was weary of the wood side,
And a chafing of the king's deer.
The fishermen brave, more money have,
Than any merchant, two or three;
Therefore I will to Scarborough go,
That a fisherman I may be.
This outlaw call'd his merry men all,
As they sat under the green wood tree;
If any of you have gold to spend,
I pray you heartily spend it with me.
Now, quoth Robin Hood, I'll to Scarborough go,
It seems to be a very fine day:
He took up his inn at a widow woman's house,
Hard by the waters grey.
Who asked him, where wert thou born?
O tell me where thou dost fare?
I am a poor fisherman, said he then,
This day entrapped all in care.
What is thy name, thou fine fellow,
I pray thee heartily tell to me?
In mine own country, where I was born,
Men call me Simon over the Lee.
Simon, Simon, said the good wife.
I wish thou may'st well brook thy name.

The Outlaw was aware of her courtesy

And rejoic'd he'd got such a dame.

Simon, wilt thou be my man ?

And good round wages I'll give thee ;

I have as good a ship of my own,

As any that sails upon the sea.

Anchor and planks thou shalt want none,

Masts and planks that are so long,

And if that thou so furnish me,

Said Simon, nothing shall go wrong.

They pluck'd up anchor, and away did sail,

More of a day than two or three ;

When others cast in their baited hooks,

The bare lines into the sea cast he.

It will be long, said the master then,

Ere this great lubber do thrive on the sea,

He shall have no share in our fish,

For in truth he is no part worthy.

O woe is me, said Simon then,

This day that ever I came here !

I wish I were in Plumpton park,

Chasing of the fallow deer.

For every clown laughs me to scorn,

And by me set nothing at all ;

If I had them in Plumpton park,

I would set as little by them all.

They pluck'd up anchor, and away did sail,

More of a day than two or three :

But Simon espy'd a ship of war,

That sail'd towards them vigorously.

O woe is me, said the master then,

This day that e'er I was born ;

For all the fish that we have got,

Is every bit lost and forlorn !

For these French robbers on the seas,

They will not spare of us one man,

But carry us to the coast of France,

And lay us in a prison strong.

But Simon said, do not fear them,

Neither, master, take you care,

Give me a bent bow in my hand,

And never a Frenchman will I spare.

Hold thy peace, thou long lubber,

For thou art nought but brass and boast ;

If I should cast you overboard,

There is but a simple lubber lost.

Simon

Simon grew angry at these words,
 And so angry then was he;
 Then he took his bent bow in his hand,
 And in the ship hatch goeth he.
 Master, tie me to the mast, he said,
 That at my mark I may stand fair,
 Then give my bent bow in my hand,
 And never a Frenchman will I spare.
 He drew his arrow to the head,
 And drew it with might and main,
 And strait in the twinkling of an eye,
 To the Frenchman's heart the arrow gaind.
 The Frenchman fell down on the ship's hatch,
 And under the hatches down below:
 Another Frenchman that him espy'd,
 The dead corpe into the sea did throw.
 O master, loose me from the mast, he said,
 And for them all take you no care,
 For give me my bent bow in my hand,
 And never a Frenchman will I spare.
 Then strait they boarded the French ship,
 They laying dead all in their sight;
 They found within the ship of war,
 Twelve thousand pounds in money bright,
 The one half of the ship, said Simon then,
 I'll give to my dame and children small;
 The other half of the ship I'll give,
 To you that are my fellows all.
 But now bespoke the master then,
 For so Simon it shall not be,
 For you have won it with your own hands,
 And the owner of it you must be.
 It shall be so as I have said,
 And with this gold for the opprest,
 An habitation will I build,
 Where they shall live in peace and rest.

171 ROBIN

17. ROBIN HOOD'S DELIGHT:

Or, A new Combat fought between ROBIN HOOD, LITTLE JOHN, and WILL. SCARLET, with three stout KEEPERS in SHERWOOD FOREST.

Tune of, ROBIN HOOD and QUEEN CATHERINE.

THERE's some will talk of lords and knights,

Down, a down, a down,

And some of yeomen good:

But I will tell you of Will. Scarlet,

Little John and Robin Hood.

They were outlaws it is well known,

And men of noble blood,

And many a time their valour was shown

In the forest of merry Sherwood.

Upon a time it chanced so,

As Robin Hood would have it be,

They all three would a walking go,

The passime for to see.

And as they walked the forest along,

Upon a Midsummer's day,

There was he aware of three foresters,

All clad in green array.

With brave long falcions by their sides,

And forest bills in their hand,

They called aloud to these outlaws,

And charged them to stand.

Why, who are you, cry'd bold Robin,

That speak so boldly here?

We three belong to King Henry,

And are keepers of his deer.

The devil you are, says Robin Hood,

I am sure it is not so;

We be the keepers of this forest,

And that you soon shall know.

Your

Your coats of green lay on the ground,
 And so we will all three,
 And take your swords and bucklers round,
 And try the victory,
 We be content, the keepers said,
 We be three, and no less,
 Then why should we of you be afraid.
 As we never did transgress?
 Why, if you be keepers in this forest,
 We be three rangers good,
 And will make you know before you do go,
 You met with bold Robin Hood.
 We be content, thou bold outlaw,
 Our valour here to try,
 And will make you know, before we do go,
 We will fight before we will fly.
 Then, come draw your swords, you bold outlaws,
 No longer stand to prate,
 But let us try it strait with blows,
 For cowards we do hate.
 Here is one for thee Will. Scarlet,
 And another for Little John,
 And I myself for Robin Hood,
 Because he is stout and strong.
 So they fell to it hard and fore,
 It was on a Midsummer day;
 From eight of the clock, 'till two and past,
 They all shew'd gallant play.
 There Robin Will. and Little John,
 They fought most manfully,
 'Till all their wind was spent and gone,
 Then Robin aloud did cry:
 O hold, O hold, cries bold Robin,
 I see you be stout men;
 Let me blow one blast on my bugle horn,
 Then I'll fight with you again.
 That bargain is to make, Robin Hood,
 Therefore we it deny;
 Thy blast upon the bugle horn
 Cannot make us fight or fly.
 Therefore fore fall on, or else be gone,
 And yield to us the day:
 It never shall be said that we are afraid
 Of thee, or thy yeomen gay.
 If that be so, cries Robin Hood,
 Let me but know your names,

And

And in the forest of merry Sherwood,
 I shall extol your fames.
 And with our names, one of them said,
 What hast thou here to do?
 Except that thou wilt fight it out,
 Our names thou shalt not know,
 We'll fight no more, say's bold Robin Hood,
 You be men of valour stout;
 Come and go with me to Nottingham,
 And there we will fight it out.
 With a butt of sack we will bang it about,
 To see who wins the day;
 And for the cost make you no doubt,
 I have gold enough to pay.
 And ever hereafter as long as we live,
 We all will brethren be;
 For I love those men with heart and hand,
 That will fight and never flee,
 So away they went to Nottingham,
 With sack to make amends;
 For three days they the wine did chace,
 And drank themselves good friends.

18. ROBIN HOOD and the BEGGAR:

Shewing how he and the BEGGAR fought and changed Cloa'ths,
 how he went a begging to Nottingham; and how he saved
 three Brethren from hanging for stealing of Deer.

TUNE of, ROBIN HOOD and the STRANGER.

COME and listen, you gentlemen all,
 With a hey down, down, and a down,
 That mirth do love for to hear,
 And a story true, I'll tell unto you,
 If that you will but draw near.

In

elder times, when merriments were,
 And archery was holden good,
 There was an outlaw as many do know,
 Which men call Robin Hood.
 Upon a time it chanced so,
 Bold Robin was merry dispos'd.
 His time for to spend, he did intend,
 Either with friends or foes.
 Then he got upon a gallant steed,
 The which was worth angels ten,
 With a mantle of green, most brave to be seen,
 He left all his merry men.
 And riding towards Nottingham,
 Some pastime for to 'spy,
 There was he aware of a jolly beggar,
 As e'er he beheld with his eye.
 An old patch'd coat the beggar had on,
 Which he daily did use to wear;
 And many a bag about him did wag,
 Which made Robin Hood to him repair,
 God speed, God speed, said Robin Hood then,
 What countryman? tell unto me;
 I am Yorkshire, Sir, but ere you go far,
 Some charity give unto me.
 I have no money, said Robin Hood then,
 But a ranger within the wood;
 I am an outlaw, as many do know,
 My name it is Robin Hood.
 But yet I must tell thee, bonny beggar,
 That a bout with thee I must try;
 Thy coat of grey, lay down I say,
 And my mantle of green shall lie by.
 Content, content, the beggar he cry'd,
 Thy part it will be the worse;
 For I hope this bout to give thee the rout,
 And then have at thy purse.
 The beggar he had a mickle long staff,
 And Robin he had a nut-brown sword;
 The beggar drew nigh, and at Robin let fly,
 But gave him ne'er a word.
 Fight on, fight on, said Robin Hood then,
 This game well pleaseth me,
 For every blow that Robin gave,
 The beggar gave buffets three.
 And fighting there full hardy and fore,
 Not far from Nottingham town,

They

They never fled 'till from Robin Hood's head
 The blood it run trickling down.
 O hold thy hand, said Robin Hood,
 And thou and I will agree ;
 If that be true, the Beggar he said,
 Thy mantle come give unto me.
 Now a change, a change, said Robin Hood,
 Thy bags and coat give me ;
 And this mantle of mine I'll to thee resign,
 My horse and my bravery.
 When Robin Hood had got the Beggar's cloaths,
 He looked round about ;
 Methinks, said he, I seem to be
 A beggar brave and stout.
 For now I have a bag for my bread,
 So I have another for my corn ;
 I have one for salt, and another for malt,
 And one for my little horn.
 And now I will a begging go,
 Some charity for to find ;
 And if any more of Robin you'll know,
 In the second part 'tis behind.
 Now Robin he is to Nottingham bound,
 With his bag hanging down to his knee,
 His staff and his coat scarce worth a groat,
 Yet merrily passed he.
 As Robin he passed the streets along,
 He heard a pitiful cry ;
 Three brethren dear, as he did hear,
 Condemned were to die.
 Then Robin he hied to the sheriff's house,
 Some relief for to seek ;
 He skip'd, he leap'd, and caper'd full high,
 As he went along the street.
 But when to the sheriff's house he came,
 There a gentleman fine and brave,
 Thou beggar, said he, come tell unto me,
 What it is thou wouldst have ?
 No meat nor drink, said Robin Hood then,
 That I come here to crave ;
 But to get the lives of yeomen three,
 And that I fain would have
 That cannot be, thou bold beggar,
 Their fact it is so clear ;
 I tell to thee, they hang'd must be,
 For stealing our King's deer.

But when to the gallows they did come,
 There was many a weeping eye;
 O hold your peace, said Robin Hood then,
 For certain they shall not die.
 Then Robin he set his horn to his mouth,
 And he blew out blasts three,
 'Till a hundred bold archers brave
 Came kneeling down to his knee.
 What is your will, Master? said they,
 We are at thy command:
 Shoot east, shoot west, said Robin then,
 And see you spare no man,
 Then they shot east, and they shot west,
 Their arrows were so keen;
 The sheriff he, and his company,
 No longer could be seen.
 Then he stept to those brethren three,
 And away he has them ta'en;
 The sheriff he was crost, and many a man lost,
 That lay dead on the plain.
 And away they went to the merry green wood,
 And sung with a merry glee,
 And Robin Hood took these three brethren good,
 To be of his yeomandree.

27. ROBIN HOOD, WILL. SCARLET, and LITTLE JOHN:

Or, A Narrative of the Victory obtained against the Prince of ARRAGON and the two GIANTS; and how
 WILL. SCARLET married the PRINCESS.

Tune of, ROBIN HOOD; Or, Hey down, down, a down.

NOW Robin Hood, Will. Scarlet, and Little John,
 Are walking over the plain,
 With a good fat buck, which Will. Scarlet
 With his strong bow had slain.

62 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

Jog on, jog on, cries Robin Hood,
 The day it runs full fast,
 For tho' my nephew me a breakfast gave,
 I have not broke my fast.
 Then to yonder lodge let us take our way,
 I think it wond'rous good,
 Where by nephew, my bold yeomen,
 Will be welcom'd unto the green wood.
 With that he took the bugle horn,
 Full well he could it blow;
 Strait from the woods came marching down
 One hundred tall fellows and mo.
 Stand, stand to your arms, says Will. Scarlet,
 Lo the enemies are within ken:
 With that Robin Hood he laughed aloud,
 Crying, they are my bold yeomen.
 Who when they arriv'd, and Robin espy'd,
 Crying, Master, what is your Will?
 We thought you had in danger been,
 Your horn did sound so shrill.
 Now nay, now nay, quoth Robin Hood,
 The danger is past and gone;
 I would have you welcome my nephew here,
 That has paid me two for one.
 In feasting and sporting they spent the day;
 'Till Phœbus sunk into the deep;
 Then each one to his quarters hy'd,
 His guard there for to keep.
 Long had they not walked within the green wood,
 But Robin he soon espy'd,
 Of a beautiful damsel all alone,
 That on a black palfrey did ride.
 Her riding-suit was of fable-hue black,
 Cyprus over her face,
 Through which her rose-like cheeks did blush,
 All with a comely grace.
 Come tell me the cause, thou pretty one,
 Quoth Robin, and tell me right,
 From whence thou com'st, and whither thou go'st,
 All in this mournful plight?
 From London I came, the damsel reply'd,
 From London upon the Thames,
 Which circled is, O Grief to tell!
 Besieg'd with foreign arms,
 By the proud Prince of Arragon,
 Who swears by his martial hand.

To have the princess to his spouse,
Or else to waste this land,
Except such champions can be found,
That dare fight three to three,
Against the prince and giants twain,
Most horrid for to see;
Whose grisly looks and eyes like brands,
Strike terror where they come,
With serpents hissing on their helms,
Instead of feather'd plume.
The princess shall be the victor's prize,
The king hath vow'd and said,
And he that shall the conquest win,
Shall have her to his bride.
Now we are four damsels sent abroad,
To East, West, North, and South,
To try whose fortune is so good,
To find these champions out.
But all in vain we have sought about,
For none so bold there are,
That dare adventure life and blood,
To free a lady fair.
When is the day? quoth Robin Hood,
Tell me this and no more.
On Midsummer next, the damsel said,
Which is June the twenty-four.
With that the tears trickled down her cheeks,
And silent was her tongue:
With sighs and sobs she took her leave,
And away her palfrey sprung.
The news itruck Robin to the heart,
He fell down on the grass,
His actions and his troubled mind,
Shew'd he perplexed was.
Where lies your grief? quoth Will. Scarlet,
O, master, tell to me?
If the damsel's eyes have pierc'd your heart,
I'll fetch her back to thee.
Now nay, now nay, quoth Robin Hood,
She does not cause my smart;
But 'tis the poor distress'd princess,
That wounds me to the heart:
I'll go fight the giants all,
To set the lady free,
The D—— take my soul, quoth Little John,
If I part with thy company.

64 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

Must I stay behind? quoth Will. Scarlet;
 No, no, that must not be;
 I'll make the third man in the fight,
 So we shall be three to three.
 These words cheer'd Robin to the heart,
 Joy shone upon his face,
 Within his arms he hugg'd them both,
 And kindly did embrace.
 Quoth he, we'll put on motley grey,
 And long staves in our hands,
 A scrip and bottle by our sides,
 As come from the Holy Lands.
 So may we pass along the highway,
 None will ask us from whence we came,
 But take us pilgrims for to be,
 Or else some holy men.
 Now they are on their journey gone,
 As fast as they may sped,
 Yet for all their haste, ere they arriv'd,
 The Princess forth was led,
 To be deliver'd to the Prince,
 Who in the list did stand,
 Prepar'd to fight, or else receive
 His lady by the hand.
 With that he walk'd about the list,
 With giants by his side;
 Bring forth, said he, your champions,
 Or bring me forth my bride:
 This is the four and twentieth day,
 The Day, prefix'd upon;
 Bring forth my bride, or London burns,
 I swear by Alcaron.
 Then cries the King and Queen likewise,
 Both weeping as they spake,
 Lo! we have brought our daughter dear,
 Whom we are forc'd to forsake.
 With that slept out bold Robin Hood,
 Cries, my Liege, it must not be so!
 Such beauty as the fair princess
 Is not for a tyrant's mow.
 The Prince he then began to storm,
 Cries, Fool, Fanatick, Baboon!
 How dare thou stop my valour's prize?
 I'll kill thee with a frown.
 Thou Tyant, Turk, thou Infidel,
 Thus Robin began to reply,

The

Thy frowns I scorn; lo! here's my gage,
 And thus I thee defy.
 And for those two Goliaths there,
 That stand on either side,
 Here are two little Davids by
 That soon can tame their pride.
 Then the King did for armour send,
 For lances, swords, and shields;
 And thus all three in armour bright,
 Came marching into the field.
 The trumpets began to found a charge,
 Each singled out his man;
 Their arms in pieces soon were hew'd,
 Blood sprang from every vein.
 The Prince reach'd Robin Hood a blow,
 He struck with might and main,
 Which made him reel about the field,
 As though he had been slain.
 God-a-mercy, quoth Robin, for that blow,
 The quarrel shall soon be try'd,
 This stroke shall shew a full divorce,
 Betwixt thee and thy bride.
 So from his shoulders he cut his head,
 Which on the ground did fall,
 And grumbled sore at Robin Hood,
 To be so dealt withal.
 The giants then began to rage,
 To see their prince lie dead;
 Thou wilt be the next, says Little John,
 Unless thou guard thy head.
 With that his falchion he whil'd about,
 It was both keen and sharp;
 He clave the giant to the belt,
 And cut in twain his heart,
 Will. Scarlet well had play'd his part,
 The giant he had brought to his knee;
 Quoth Will. the devil cannot break his fast,
 Unless he have you all three.
 So with his falchion he run him through,
 A deep and ghastly wound;
 Who damn'd and foam'd, curs'd and blasphem'd,
 And then fell to the ground.
 Now all the lists with shouts were fill'd,
 The skies they did resound,
 Which brought the Princess to herself,
 Who had fallen into a swoon,

66 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

The King and Queen, and Princess fair,
 Came walking to the place,
 And gave the champions many thanks,
 And did them farther grace.
 Tell me, quoth the King, whence you are,
 That thus disguised came,
 Whose valour speaks that noble blood,
 Deth run through every vein.
 A boon, a boon, quoth Robin Hood,
 On my knees I beg and crave;
 By my crown, quoth the King, I grant,
 Ask what, and thou shalt have.
 Then pardon I beg for my merry men,
 Which are in the green wood,
 For Little John, and Will. Scarlet,
 And for me bold Robin Hood.
 Art thou Robin Hood? Quoth the King;
 For the valour thou hast shewn,
 Your pardon I do freely grant,
 And welcome every one.
 The Princess I promise the victor's prize,
 She cannot have you all three;
 She shall chuse, quoth Robin; said Little John,
 Then little share falls to me.
 Then did the Princess view all three,
 With a comely lovely grace,
 And took Will. Scarlet by the hand,
 Saying here I make my choice.
 With that a noble lord stept forth,
 Of Maxfield earl was he,
 Who look'd Will. Scarlet in the face,
 And wept most bitterly.
 Quoth he, I had a son like thee,
 Whom I lov'd wond'rous well,
 But he is gone, or rather dead,
 His name it is young Gamewell.
 Then did Will. Scarlet fall on his knees,
 Crying, Father! father! here,
 Here kneels your son, your young Gamewell,
 You said you lov'd so dear.
 But, lord! what embracing and kissing was there,
 When all these friends were met!
 They are gone to the wedding, and so to the bedding,
 And so I bid you good night.

20. LITTLE JOHN and the four BEGGARS.

Shewing how he went a BEGGING, and fought with FOUR BEGGARS, and what a Prize he got from them.

Tune of, ROBIN HOOD and the BEGOAR.

ALL you that delight for to spend some time,
With a hey down, &c.

A merry song for to sing,
Unto me draw near, and you shall hear,
How Little John went a begging.

As Robin Hood walked the forest along,
And all his yeomandree,

Says Robin, some of you must a begging go,
And, Little John, it must be thee.

Says John, if I must a begging go,
I will have a palmer's weed,

With a staff and a coat, and bags of all sorts,
The better then shall I speed.

Come, now give me a bag for my bread,
And another for my cheefe,

And one for a penny, if I get any,
That nothing I may leese.

Now Little John is a begging gone,
Seeking for some relief;

But of all the beggars he met on the way,
Little John he was the chief.

But as he was walking himself alone,
Four beggars he chanced to spy,

Some deaf, some blind, some came behind;
Says John, here is a brave company.

Good-morrow, says John, my brethren dear,
Good fortune I had you to see;

Which way do you go, pray let me know,
For I want some company.

O what is here to do? said Little John:

Why ring all these bells? said he,

What dog is hanging? Come, let us be hanging,

That we the truth may see.

Here is no dog, one of them said,

Good fellow, I tell unto thee;

But here is one dead, that will give us cheese and bread,

And it may be one single penny.

We have brethren in London, another said,

So we have at Coventry,

In Berwick and Dover, and all the world over,

But ne'er a crooked Carl like thee.

Therefore stand thee back, thou crooked Carl,

And take that knock on the crown;

Nay, says Little John, I'll not be gone,

I o-a-bout I will have of you round.

Now have at you all, said Little John,

If you be so full of your blows,

Fight on all four, and never give o'er,

Whether you be friends or foes.

John nipp'd the dumb, and made him to roar,

And the blind that could not see;

And he that a cripple had been for seventy years,

He made run faster than he.

And flinging them all against the wall,

With many a sturdy bang,

It made John to sing, to hear the gold ring,

And against the walls cry twang.

Then he got out of the beggars cloak

Three hundred pounds in gold;

Good fortune had I, said Little John,

Such a fight for to behold.

But found he in the beggar's bag

But three hundred and three;

If I drink water while this doth last,

Then an ill death may I die.

And my begging trade I will now give o'er,

My fortune hath been so good;

Therefore I will not stay, but I will away

To the forest of merry Sherwood;

And when to the forest of Sherwood he came,

He quickly there did see

Bold Robin Hood, his master good,

And all his company.

What news? What news? said Robin Hood,

Come, Little John, tell unto me,

How hast thou sped with thy beggar's trade,
 For that I fain would see?
 No news, but good, said Little John,
 With begging full well have I sped;
 Three hundred and three have I hear for thee,
 In silver and gold so red.
 When Robin Hood took Little John by the hand,
 And danced about the oak tree;
 If we drink water while this doth last,
 Then an ill death may we die.
 So to conclude my merry new song,
 All you that delight to sing,
 'Tis of Robin Hood, that archer good,
 And how Little John went a begging.

21. ROBIN HOOD and the RANGER:

Or, TRUE FRIENDSHIP after a FIERCE FIGHT.

Tune of, ARTHUR-A-BLAND.

WHEN Phoebus had melted the fickle of ice,
 With a hey down, &c.
 And likewise the mountains of snow,
 Bold Robin Hood he would ramble to see,
 To frolick abroad with his bow.
 He left all his merry men waiting behind,
 Whilst through the green vallies he pass'd,
 Where he did behold a forester bold,
 Who cry'd out, Friend, whether so fast?
 I am going, quoth Robin, to kill a fat buck;
 For me and my merry men all;
 Besides, ere I go, I'll have a fat doe,
 Or else it shall cost me a fall.

78 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

You'd best have a care, said the forrester then,
 For these are his Majesty's deer;
 Before you shall shoot, the thing I'll dispute,
 For I am head forrester here.
 These thirteen long summers, said Robin, I'm sure,
 My arrows I here have let fly,
 Where freely I range; methinks it is strange
 You should have more power than I.
 This forest, quoth Robin, I think is my own,
 And so are the nimble deer too;
 Therefore I declare, and solemnly swear,
 I'll not be affronted by you.
 The forrester he had a long quarter staff,
 Likewise a broad sword by his side;
 Without more ado, he presently drew,
 Declaring the truth should be try'd.
 Bold Robin Hood had a sword of the best,
 Thus ere he would take any wrong,
 His courage was flush, he'd venture a brush,
 And thus they went to it ding-dong.
 The very first blow that the forester gave,
 He made his broad weapon cry twang;
 'Twas over the head, he fell down for dead,
 O that was a damnable bang!
 But Robin he soon recovered himself,
 And bravely fell to it again;
 The very next stroke their weapons they broke,
 Yet never a man there was slain.
 At quarter staff then they resolved to play,
 Because they would have the other bout;
 And brave Robin Hood right valiantly stood,
 Unwilling he was to give out.
 Bold Robin he gave him very hard blows,
 The other return'd them as fast;
 At every stroke their jackets did smoke;
 Three hours the combat did last.
 At length in a rage the bold forrester grew,
 And cudgell'd bold Robin so fore,
 That he could not stand, so shaking his hand,
 He said, Let us freely give o'er.
 Thou art a brave fellow, I needs must confess
 I never knew any so good;
 Thou art fit to be a yeoman for me,
 And range in the merry green wood.
 I'll give thee this ring as a token of love,
 For bravely thou hast acted thy part;

That

ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND

That man that can fight in him I delight,
 And love him with all my whole heart.
 Then Robin Hood setting his horn to his mouth,
 A blast he merrily blew;
 His yeomen did hear, and strait did appear,
 A hundred with sturdy long bows.
 Now Little John came at the head of them all,
 Cloath'd in a rich mantle of green;
 And likewise the rest were gloriously drest,
 A delicate fight to be seen!
 Lo! these are my yeomen, says Robin Hood,
 Thou shalt be one of the train:
 A mantle and bow, and quiver also,
 I give them whom I entertain.
 The forrester willingly enter'd the list,
 They were such a beautiful sight;
 Then with a long bow they shot a fat doe,
 And made a rich supper that night.
 What singing and dancing was in the green wood,
 For joy of another new mate!
 With might and delight they spent all the night,
 And liv'd at a plentiful rate.
 The forrester ne'er was so merry before,
 As then he was with these brave souls,
 Who never would fail, in wine, beer, or ale,
 To take off their cherishing bowls.
 Then Robin Hood gave him a mantle of green,
 Broad arrows, and a curious long bow:
 This done, the next day, so gallant and gay,
 He marched them all on a row.
 Quoth he, my bold yeomen, be true to your trust,
 And then we may range the woods wide;
 They all did declare and solemnly swear,
 They'd conquer, or die by his side.

22. ROBIN HOOD and LITTLE JOHN.

Being an Account of their first Meeting: their fierce Encounter and Conquest. To which is added, their friendly Agreement, and how he came to be called LITTLE JOHN,

Tune of, ARTHUR-A-BLAND.

WHEN Robin Hood was about twenty years old,
 With a hey down, down, and a down,
 He happened to meet Little John,
 A jolly brisk blade, right fit for the trade,
 For he was a lusty young man:
 Tho' he was call'd Little, his limbs they were large,
 And his stature was seven feet high:
 Wherever he came, they quak'd at his name,
 For soon he would make them to fly.
 How they came acquainted I'll tell you in brief,
 If you would but listen awhile,
 For this very jest among all the rest,
 I think may cause you to smile.
 For Robin Hood said to his jolly bowmen,
 Pray tarry you here in this grove,
 And see that you all observe well my call,
 While thorough the forest I rove.
 We have had no sport these fourteen long days,
 Therefore now abroad will I go;
 Now should I be beat, and cannot retreat,
 My horn I will presently blow.
 Then did he shake hands with his merry men all,
 And bid them at present good-bye:
 Then as near the brook his journey he took,
 A stranger he chanc'd to espy.
 They happen'd to meet on a long narrow bridge,
 And neither of them would give way;

Quoth

Quoth bold Robin Hood, and sturdily stood,
 I'll shew you right Nottingham play.
 With that from his quiver, an arrow he drew,
 A broad arrow with a goose wing:
 The stranger reply'd, I'll flicker thy hide,
 If thou offer to touch the string.
 Quoth bold Robin Hood, thou dost prate like an ass,
 For where I do bend but my bow,
 I could send a dart quite through thy proud heart;
 Before thou could'st strike me one blow.
 Thou talk'st like a coward, the stranger reply'd,
 Well arm'd with a long bow you stand,
 To shoot at my breast, while I, I protest,
 Have nought but a staff in my hand.
 The name of a coward, quoth Robin, I scorn,
 Therefore my long bow I'll lay by;
 And now, for thy sake, a staff I will take;
 The truth of thy manhood to try.
 Then Robin Hood stept to a thicket of trees,
 And chose him a staff of ground oak;
 Now this being done, away he did run
 To the stranger, and merrily spoke:
 Lo! see my staff is lusty and tough,
 Now here on this bridge we will play;
 Whoever falls in, the other shall win.
 The battle, and so we'll away,
 With all my whole heart, the stranger reply'd,
 I scorn in the least to give out,
 This said, they fell to it without more dispute,
 And their staffs they did flourish about.
 At first Robin gave the stranger a bang,
 So hard that he made his bones ring:
 The stranger he said, this must be repaid,
 I'll give you as good as you bring.
 So long as I am able to handle a staff,
 To die in your debt, friend, I scorn,
 Then to it both goes, and follow their blows,
 As if they'd been threshing of corn.
 The strange gave Robin a crack on the crown,
 Which caused the blood to appear;
 Then Robin enrag'd more fiercely engag'd,
 And follow'd his blows more severe.
 So thick and so fast he did lay it on him,
 With a passionate fury and ire;
 At every stroke he made him to smoke,
 As if he had been a l: on fire.

O thou

74 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

O then in a fury the stranger he grew,
 And gave him a damnable look,
 And with it a blow, which laid him full low,
 And tumbled him into the brook.
 I prithee, good fellow, where art thou now;
 The stranger, in laughter, he cry'd;
 Quoth bold Robin Hood, good faith, in the flood,
 And floating along with the tide.
 I needs must acknowledge thou art a brave soul,
 With thee I'll no longer contend?
 For needs must I say thou hast got the day,
 Our battle shall be at an end.
 Then unto the bank he did presently wade,
 And pull'd himself out by a thorn;
 Which done at the last he blew a loud blast
 Straitway on his fine bugle horn:
 The eccho of which through the vallies did ring.
 At which his stout bowmen appear'd.
 All cloathed in green, most gay to be seen,
 So up to their master they steer'd.
 O what is the matter, quoth Will. Stutely,
 Good master, you are wet to the skin?
 No matter, quoth he, the lad that you see
 In fighting hath tumbled me in,
 He shall not go scot free, the others reply'd,
 So strait they were seizing him there,
 To duck him likewise; but Robin Hood cries,
 He is a stout fellow, forbear.
 There's no one shall wrong thee, friend, be not afraid,
 These bowmen upon me do wait;
 There's threescore and nine; if thou wilt be mine,
 Thou shalt have my livery strait,
 And other accoutrements fitting also,
 Speak up jolly blade, never fear;
 I'll teach you also the use of the bow,
 To shoot at the fat fallow deer.
 O here is my hand, the stranger reply'd,
 I'll serve you with all my whole heart;
 My name is John Little, a man of good mettle,
 Ne'er doubt me, for I'll play my part.
 His name shall be alter'd, quoth Will. Stutely,
 And I will his godfather be;
 Prepare then a feast, and none of the least,
 For we will be merry, quoth he.
 They presently fetch'd him a brace of fat does,
 With humming strong liquor likewise;

They

They lov'd what was good ; so in the green wood

This pretty sweet babe they baptiz'd.

He was, I must tell you, but seven feet high,

And may be an ell in the waist ;

He was a sweet lad ; much feasting they lov'd

Bold Robin the christening grac'd.

With all his bowmen, which stood in a ring,

And were of the Nottingham breed ;

Brave Stathe came then with seven yeomen,

And did in due manner proceed.

This infant was call'd John Little, quoth he,

Which name shall be changed anon ;

The words we'll transpose ; in wherever he goes,

His name shall be call'd Little John.

They all with a shout made the elements ring ;

So soon as the office was o'er,

To feasting they went, with wine and merriment,

And tipp'd strong liquors gillong.

Then Robin he took the pretty sweet babe,

And cloath'd him from top to toe,

In garments of green most gay to be seen,

And gave him a curious long bow.

Thou shalt be an archer as well as the best,

And range in the green wood with us,

Where we will not want gold nor silver, behold,

While bishops have ought in their purse.

We live here like 'scutrons or lords of renown,

Without e'er a foot of free land ;

We feast on good cheer, with wine, ale and beer,

And every thing at our command.

Then musick and dancing did quail the day,

At length, when the sun waxed low,

Then all the whole train the grove did refrain,

And unto their caves they did go.

And so ever after, as long as they liv'd,

Although he be proper and tall,

Yet nevertheless, the truth to express,

Still Little John they did him call.

23. The BISHOP of HEREFORD'S ENTERTAINMENT
by ROBIN HOOD and LITTLE JOHN, &c. in MERRY BARNSDALE.

SOME they will talk of bold Robin Hood
And some of barons bold;
But I'll tell you how he serv'd the Bishop of Hereford,
When he robb'd him of his gold.
As it befel in merry Barnsdale,
And under the green wood tree,
The Bishop of Hereford was to come by,
With all his company.
Come kill a ven'son, said bold Robin Hood,
Come kill me a good fat deer,
The Bishop of Hereford is to dine with me to-day,
And he shall pay well for his cheer.
We'll kill a fat ven'son, said bold Robin Hood,
and dress it by the highway side,
And we will watch the Bishop narrowly,
Left some other way he should ride.
Robin Hood dress'd himself in shepherd's attire,
With six of his men also;
And when the bishop of Hereford came by,
They about the fire did go.
O what is the matter, then, said the bishop,
Or for whom do you make this ado?
Or why do you kill the King's ven'son,
When your company is so few.
We are shepherds, said bold Robin Hood,
And we keep sheep all the year,
And we are disposed to be merry this day,
And to kill of the King's fat deer.
You are brave fellows, said the Bishop,
And the King of your doings shall know.
Therefore make haste, and come along with me,
For before the King you shall go.

O Pardon

O pardon, O pardon, said bold Robin Hood,
O pardon, I thee pray;

For it becomes not your lordship's coat
To take so many lives away.

No pardon, no pardon, says the bishop,
No pardon I thee owe;

Therefore make haste, and come along with me.

For before the King you shall go.

Then Robin set his back against a tree,

And is foot against a thorn,

And from underneath his shepherd's coat,

He pull'd out a bugle horn.

He put the little end to his mouth,

And a loud blast did he blow,

'Till threescore and ten of bold Robin Hood's men

Came running all on a row;

All making obeysance to bold Robin Hood.

'Twas a comely sight for to see.

What is the matter, Master, said Little John,

That you blow so hastily?

O here is the bishop of Hereford,

And no pardon we shall have;

Cut off his head, Master, said Little John,

And throw him into his grave.

O pardon, O pardon, said the bishop,

O pardon I thee pray;

For if I had known it had been you,

I'd have gone some other way.

No pardon, no pardon, said Robin Hood,

No pardon I thee owe;

Therefore make haste and come along with me.

For to merry Barnsdale you shall go.

Then Robin took the bishop by the hand,

And led him to merry Barnsdale,

He made him to stay and sup with him that night,

And to drink wine, beer, and ale.

Call in a reckoning, said the bishop,

For methinks it grows wond'rous high!

Lend me your purse, Master, said Little John,

And I'll tell you bye and bye.

Then Little John took the bishop's cloak,

And spread it upon the ground,

And out of the bishop's portmanteau

He told three hundred pound.

Here's money enough, Master, said Little John,

And a comely sight 'tis to see;

It

78 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND

It makes me in charity with the bishop,
 Tho' he heartily loveth not me.
 Robin Hood took the bishop by the hand,
 And he caused the music to play;
 And he made the bishop dance in his boots,
 And glad he could so get away.

25. ROBIN HOOD, rescuing the three SQUIRES from NOTTINGHAM GALLOWS.

BOLD Robin Hood ranging the forest all round,
 The forest all round ranged he;
 O there did he meet with a gay lady,
 She came weeping along the highway.
 Why weep you, Why weep you, bold Robin he said,
 What weep you for gold or fee,
 Or do you weep for your maidenhead,
 That is taken from your body?
 I weep not for gold, the lady reply'd,
 Neither do I weep for fee;
 Nor do I weep for my maidenhead,
 That is taken from my body.
 What weep you for then, said jolly Robin,
 I prithee come tell unto me?
 Oh! I do weep for my three sons,
 For they are all condemned to die.
 What church have they robbed, said jolly Robin,
 Or parish priest have they slain?
 What maids have they forced against their will,
 Or with other mens wives have lain?
 No church have they robbed, this lady reply'd,
 Nor parish priest have they slain;
 No maids have they forced against their will,
 Nor with other mens wives have lain.
 What have they done then, said jolly Robin.
 Come tell me most speedily?

Oh!

ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND. 89

Oh! it is for killing the king's fallow deer,
 And they are all condemned to die.
 Get you home, get you home, said jolly Robin,
 Get you home most speedily,
 And I will unto fair Nottingham go.
 For the sake of the 'squires all three.
 Then bold Robin Hood for Nottingham goes,
 For Nottingham town goes he,
 O there did he meet with a poor beggar man,
 He came creeping along the highway.
 What news, what news, thou old beggar man,
 What news come tell unto me?
 O there's weeping and wailing in Nottingham,
 For the death of the 'squires all three.
 This beggar man had a coat on his back,
 'Twas neither green, yellow, nor red;
 Bold Robin Hood thought 'twas no disgrace,
 To be in the beggar man's stead.
 Come, pull off thy coat, thou old beggar man,
 And thou shalt put on mine,
 And forty good shillings I'll give thee to boot,
 Besides brandy, good beer, ale, and wine,
 Bold Robin Hood then unto Nottingham came,
 Unto Nottingham town came he;
 O there did he meet with great master sheriff,
 And likewise the 'squires all three.
 One boon, one boon, says jolly Robin,
 One boon I beg on my knee,
 That as for the death of these three 'squires,
 Their hangman I may be.
 Soon granted, soon granted, says master sheriff,
 Soon granted unto thee;
 And you shall have all their gay cloathing,
 Aye, and all their white money.
 O I will have none of their gay cloathing,
 Nor none of their white money,
 But I'll have three blasts on my bugle horn,
 That their souls to heaven may flee.
 When Robin Hood mounted the gallows so high,
 Where he blew loud and shrill,
 'Till an hundred and ten of Robin Hood's Men
 Came marching down the green hill,
 Whose men are these, says master sheriff,
 Whose men are they, come tell unto me?
 O they are mine, but none of thine,
 And are come for the 'squires all three.

O take

80 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

O take them, O take them, says great master Sheriff,
O take them along with thee;
For there's never a man in fair Nottingham,
Can do the like of thee.

25. The KING'S DISGUISE and FRIENDSHIP with ROBIN HOOD.
To a NORTHERN TUNE.

KING RICHARD hearing of the pranks
Of Robin Hood, and his men,
He much admir'd, and more desired,
To see both him and them.
Then with a dozen of his lords,
To Nottingham he rode:
When he came there, he made good cheer,
And took up his abode.
He having staid there some time,
But had no hopes to speed,
He and his lords, with one accord,
All put on monk's weeds.
From Fountain-Abbey they did ride,
Down to Barnsdale;
Where Robin Hood, prepared stood,
All compauy to assail.
The King was higher than the rest,
And Robin thought he had
An abbot been whom he had seen,
To rob him he was glad.
He took the King's horse by the head,
Abbot, says he, abide;
I am bound to rue such knaves as you,
That live in pomp and pride.
But we are messengers from the King,
The King himself did say;

Near to this Place his royal grace,
 To speak with thee does stay.
 God save the King, said Robin Hood,
 And all that wish him well ;
 He that does deny his sovereignty,
 I wish he was in hell.
 Thyself thou cursedst, says the King,
 For thou a traitor art :
 Nay, but that you are his messenger,
 I swear you lie in heart.
 For I never yet hurt any man
 That honest is and true ;
 But those who give their minds to live
 Upon other mens due.
 I never hurt the husbandman,
 That use to till the ground :
 Nor spill their blood who range the wood,
 To follow hawk or hound.
 My chiefest spite to clergy is,
 Who in these days bear great sway ;
 With fryars and monks, with their fine sprunks,
 I make my chiefest prey.
 But I am very glad, says Robin Hood,
 That I have met you here ;
 Come, before we end, you shall, my friend,
 Taste of our green wood cheer.
 The King he then did marvel much,
 And so did all his men ;
 They thought with fear, what kind of cheer,
 Robin would provide for them.
 Robin took the King's horse by the head,
 And led him to his tent :
 Thou wouldst not be so us'd, quoth he,
 But that my King thee sent :
 Nay, more than that, quoth Robin Hood,
 For good King Richard's sake,
 If you had as much gold as ever I told,
 I would not one penny take.
 Then Robin set his horn to his mouth,
 And a loud blast he did blow,
 'Till a hundred and ten of Robin Hood's men,
 Came marching all of a row.
 And when they came bold Robin before,
 Each man did bend his knee,
 O, thought the King, 'tis a gallant thing,
 And a seemly fight to see.

82 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

Within himself the King did say,
 These men of Robin Hood's
 More humble be than mine to me;
 So the court may learn of the woods.
 So then they all to dinner went,
 Upon a carpet green;
 Black, yellow, red, finely mingled,
 Most curious to be seen.
 Venison and fowls were plenty there,
 With fish out of the river:
 King Richard swore, on sea or shore,
 He never was feasted better.
 Then Robin takes a cann of ale:
 Come let us now begin;
 And every man shall have his cann,
 Here's a health unto the King.
 The King himself drank to the King,
 So round about it went;
 Two barrels of ale, both stout and stale,
 To pledge that health was spent.
 And after that a bowl of wine
 In his hand took Robin Hood,
 Until I die, I'll drink wine, said he,
 While I live in the green wood.
 Bend all your bows, said Robin Hood.
 And with the grey goose wing,
 Such sport now show, as you would do
 In the presence of the King.
 They shewed such brave archery,
 By cleaving sticks and wands,
 That the King did say, such men as they
 Live not in many lands.
 Well, Robin Hood, then says the King,
 If I could thy pardon get,
 To serve the King in every thing,
 Would'st thou thy mind firm set?
 Yes, withal my heart, bold Robin said,
 So they flung off their Hoods,
 To serve the King in every thing,
 They swore they would spend their blood.
 For a clergyman was first my bane,
 Which makes me hate them all,
 But if you will be so kind to me,
 Love them again I shall.
 The King no longer could forbear,
 For he was mov'd with truth.

I am the King, thy sovereign King,
 That appears before you all,
 When Robin saw that it was he,
 Strait then he down did fall,
 Stand up again, then said the King,
 I'll thee thy pardon give,
 Stand up my friend, who can contend,
 When I give leave to live?
 So they are all gone to Nottingham,
 All shouting as they came,
 But when the people them did see,
 They thought the King was slain.
 And for that cause the outlaws were come,
 To rule all as they list;
 And for to shun, which was to run,
 The people did not wist.
 The plowman left the plow in the fields,
 The smith ran from his shop;
 Old folks also, that scarce could go,
 Over their sticks did hop.
 The King soon did let them understand
 He had been in the green wood,
 And from that day, for evermore,
 He'd forgiven Robin Hood.
 Then the people they did hear,
 And the truth was known,
 They all did sing, God save the King,
 Hang care, the town's our own.
 What's that Robin Hood? then said the Sheriff,
 That varlet I do hate,
 Both me and mine he caused to dine.
 And serv'd us all with one plate.
 Ho, ho, said Robin Hood, I know what you mean,
 Come, take your gold again;
 Be friends with me, and I with thee,
 And so with every man.
 Now master sheriff you are paid,
 And since you are beginner,
 As well as you give me my due,
 For you ne'er paid for that dinner.
 But if it that should please the King,
 So much your house to grace;
 To sup with you for to speak true,
 Know you ne'er was base.
 The sheriff could not gainsay,
 For a trick was put upon him;

84 ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

A supper was drest, the King was a guest,
 But he thought 'twould have outdone him.
 They are all gone to London court,
 Robin Hood with all his train ;
 He once was there a noble peer,
 And now he's there again.
 Many such pranks brave Robin play'd,
 While he liv'd in the green wood,
 Now my friend attend, and hear an end
 Of honest Robin Hood.

26. ROBIN HOOD and the GOLDEN ARROW.

WHEN as the sheriff of Nottingham
 Was come with mickle grief ;
 He talk'd no good of Robin Hood,
 That strong and sturdy thief.
 Fal la dal de.
 So unto London road he pass,
 His losses to unfold
 To King Richard, who did regard
 The tale that he had told.
 Why, quoth the King, what shall I do ?
 Art thou not Sheriff for me ?
 The law is in force, to take thy course
 Of them that injure thee.
 Go get thee gone, and by thyself
 Devise some tricking game,
 For to enthrall yon rebels all,
 Go take thy course with them.
 So away the sheriff he return'd,
 And by the way he thought
 Of th' words of the King, and how the thing
 To pass might well be brought.

For

For within his mind he imagined,
 That when such matches were,
 Those outlaws stout, without all doubt,
 Would be the bowmen there.
 So an arrow with a golden head,
 And shaft of silver white,
 Who on the day should bear away
 For his own proper right.
 Tidings came to bold Robin Hood,
 Under the green wood tree ;
 Come prepare you then my merry men,
 We'll go yon sport to see.
 With that stept forth a brave young man,
 David of Doncaster,
 Master, said he, be rul'd by me,
 From the green wood we'll not stir.
 To tell the truth, I'm well inform'd,
 Yon match it is a wile.
 The Sheriff I wifs devises this,
 Us archers to beguile.
 Thou smells of a coward, said Robin Hood,
 Thy words do not please me ;
 Come on't what will, I'll try my skill,
 At yon brave archery.
 O then bespoke brave Little John,
 Come let us thither gang ;
 Come listen to me how it shall be,
 That we need not be ken'd.
 Our mantles all of Lincoln green
 Behind us we will leave ;
 We'll drefs us all so several,
 They shall not us perecive,
 One shall wear white, another red,
 One yellow, another blue ;
 Thus in disguise, in the exercise
 We'll gang whate'er insue.
 Forth from the green wood they are gone,
 With hearts all firm and stout,
 Resolving with the sheriff's men
 To have a hearty bout.
 So themselves they mixed with the rest,
 To prevent all suspicion ;
 For if they should together hold
 They thought it no discretion.
 So the sheriff looking round about,
 Amongst eight hundred men.

86. ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND.

But could not see the fight that he,
 Had long suspected then.
 Some said if Robin Hood was here,
 And all his men to boot,
 Sure none of them could pass these men,
 So bravely they do shoot.
 Ay, quoth the sheriff, and scratch'd his head,
 I thought he would have been here;
 I thought he would, but tho' he's bold,
 He durst not now appear.
 O that word griev'd Robin Hood to the heart,
 He vexed in his blood:
 Ere long, thought he, thou shalt well see
 That here was Robbin Hood.
 Some cried Blue Jacket, another cried Brown,
 And a third cried brave Yellow;
 But the fourth man said, yon man in red,
 In this place has no fellow.
 For that was Robin Hood himself,
 For he was cloath'd in red;
 At every shot the prize he got,
 For he was both sure and dead.
 So the arrow with the golden head,
 And shaft of silver white,
 Brave Robin Hood won, and bore with him,
 For his own proper right.
 These outlaws there that very day,
 To shun all kinds of doubt,
 By three or four, no less nor more,
 As they went in came out.
 Until they all assembled were
 Under the green wood shade,
 Where they relate in pleasant sport
 What brave pastime they made.
 Says Robin Hood, all my care is,
 How that yon sheriff may
 Know certainly that it was I
 That bore his arrow away.
 Says Little John, my counsel good
 Did take effect before;
 So therefore now, if you'll allow,
 I will advise once more.
 Speak on, speak on, said Robin Hood,
 Thy wit's both quick and sound,
 This I advise, said Little John,
 That a letter shall be penn'd,

And

And when it is done, to Nottingham
 You to the Sheriff shall send.
 That is well advised, said Robin Hood,
 But how must it be sent?
 Pugh! when you please 'tis done with ease,
 Master, be you content.
 I'll stick it on my arrow's head,
 And shoot it into the town,
 The mark must show where it must go,
 Whenever it lights down.
 The project it was well perform'd,
 The sheriff that letter had,
 Which when he read he scratch'd his head,
 And rav'd like one that's mad,
 So we'll leave him chafing in the grease,
 Which will do him no good:
 Now, my friends attend and hear the end
 Of honest Robin Hood.

27. ROBIN HOOD and the VALIANT KNIGHT.

Together with an Account of his DEATH and BURIAL, &c.

TUNE OF ROBIN HOOD and the FIFTEEN FORESTERS.

WHEN Robin Hood, and his merry men all,

Derry down, down,
 Had reigned many years,
 The King was then told that they had been hold
 To his bishops and noble peers.

Hey down, derry, derry down.
 Therefore they called a council of state,
 To know what was to be done,
 For to quell their pride, or else they reply'd

The land would be over-run.
 Having consulted a whole summer's day,

At length it was agreed.

That

88 ROBIN HOOD's GARLAND.

That one should be sent to try the event,
 And fetch him away with speed.
 Therefore a trusty and worthy knight
 The King was pleas'd to call
 Sir William by name, when to him he came,
 He told him his pleasure all.
 Go from thence to bold Robin Hood,
 And bid him without more ado,
 Surrender himself, or else the proud elf
 Shall suffer with all his crew.
 Take here an hundred bowmen brave,
 All chosen men of might,
 Of excellent art for to take thy part,
 In glittering armour bright.
 Then said the knight, my Sovereign Liege,
 By me they shall be led;
 I'll venture my blood against Robin Hood,
 And bring him alive or dead.
 One hundred men were chosen strait,
 As proper as e'er men saw:
 On Midsummer Day they marched away,
 To conquer that brave outlaw.
 With long yew bows, and shining spears,
 They march'd in mickle pride,
 And never delay'd, or halted, or stay'd
 'Till they came to the green wood side.
 Said he to his archers, tarry here,
 Your bows make ready all,
 That if need should be, you may follow me.
 And see that you observe my call.
 I'll go in Person first, he cry'd,
 With the letters of my good King,
 Well sign'd and seal'd, and if he will yield,
 We need not draw one string.
 He wander'd about 'till at length he came
 To the tent of Robin Hood,
 The letter he shows; bold Robin arose,
 And there on his guard he stood,
 They'd have me surrender, quoth bold Robin Hood,
 And lie at their mercy then:
 But tell them from me, that never shall be,
 While I have full seven score men.
 Sir William the knight, both hardy and bold,
 Did offer to seize him there,
 Which William Locksley by fortune did see,
 And bid them that trick to forbear.

Then

Then Robin Hood set his horn to his mouth,

And blew a blast or twain,

And so did the knight, at which there in fight,

The archers came all amain.

Sir William with care he drew up his men,

And plac'd them in battle array;

Bold Robin, we find, he was not behind;

Now this was a bloody fray.

The archers on both sides bent their bows,

And the clouds of arrows flew;

The very first flight that honour'd knight,

Did there bid the world adieu.

Yet nevertheless their fight did last

From morning till almost noon;

Both parties were stout, and loth to give out,

This was on the last of June.

At length they went off: one party they went

For London with right good will;

And Robin he to the green wood tree,

And there he was taken ill.

He sent for a monk, to let him blood,

Who took his life away:

Now this being done, his archers they run,

It was not time to stay.

Some went on board, and cross'd the seas,

To Flanders, France, and Spain;

And others to Rome, for fear of their doom,

But soon return'd again.

Thus he that never fear'd bow nor spear,

Was murder'd by letting off blood;

And so, loving friends, the story doth end

Of valiant bold Robin Hood.

There's nothing remains but his Epitaph now,

Which, Reader, here you have,

To this very day read it you may,

As it was upon his grave.

A N E W
ROBIN HOOD SONG,
SUNG by Mr. BEARD.

AS blith as the linnets sing in the green woods,
So blithe we'll wake, we'll wake the morn,
So blithe, &c.
And thro' the wide forest of merry Sherwood
We'll wind the bugle horn,
We'll wind, &c.

The sheriff attempts to take bold Robin Hood,
Bold Robin disdains to fly ;
Let him come when he will, we'll in merry Sherwood,
Or vanquish, boys, or die.

Our hearts they are stout, and our bows they are good,
And well their Master know :
They're cull'd in the forest of merry Sherwood.
And never will spare a foe.

Our arrows shall drink of the fallow deer's blood,
We'll hunt them all o'er the plain ;
And through the wide forest of merry Sherwood,
No shaft shall fly in vain.

Brave Scarlet and John, who ne'er were subdu'd,
Gave each his hand so bold,
We'll range through the forest of merry Sherwood,
What say my hearts of gold.
What say, &c.

A NEW
ROBIN HOODSONG
SUNG by MR. DAVID

A little as the forest was in the green wood,
So little will we wake, we'll wake the wood,
So little as the forest was in the green wood,
And thus the wide forest of merry Sherwood,
We'll wind the pipe of peace,
We'll wind, we'll wind, we'll wind.

The forest attempts to take bold Robin Hood,
Bold Robin dillies to take;
Let him come when he will, we'll in merry Sherwood,
Or anywhere, boys or girls.

10 JUL 52

Our hearts they are stout, and our bows they are good,
And well they may know;
They're call'd in the forest of merry Sherwood,
And never will leave a foe.

Our arrows shall drink of the lady deer's blood,
We'll hunt them all o'er the plain;
And though the wide forest of merry Sherwood,
No hawk shall fly in vain.

Brave Scarlet and John, who never were afraid,
Gave each his hand to hold,
We'll range through the forest of merry Sherwood,
What for my hearts of gold,
What for, we'll see.
